Nature's Trade Balance
Values Go Up, Up
To Educate Congress
One Year's Wine $25

By Arthur Brisbane

Copyright, 1928, by Star Co.

GALLUP, N. M., MARCH 16—In Arizona, where this is written, near the border of New Mexico, wild turkeys and Chinese pheasants are turned loose, invited to increase and multiply, as a state enterprise. Barring coyotes and foxes, pheasants and turkeys should thrive amazingly in Arizona, New Mexico and California on an abundant fillaree and insect diet.

To kill off coyotes, thus interfering with nature's "balance of trade," is sometimes dangerous. They made that discovery in Montana, where coyotes were killing young lambs. A big bounty disposed of the coyotes. Then field mice, with no coyotes to eat them, got rid of the alfalfa, leaving nothing for the lambs to eat.

This is the biggest year that Wall Street ever saw. Thus far makes 1927, which held the record, look like a "dull market." So far, 1928 has sold 38,000,000 more shares than were sold in the same period of 1927.

Consider how American values change before you decide that we have reached the maximum. On Thursday the total value of General Motors stock, rising to $163 a share, increased $104,400,000.

That is seven times as much as the United States paid for the whole Mississippi Valley when it made the Louisiana Purchase deal with France one hundred and twenty five years ago. And it is thirteen times what Seward paid for Alaska. They called that purchase "Seward's folly." Don't sell this country short. You never can tell what things will be worth. Prices go up and go down, but mainly UP, in the long run.

Lindbergh renders service to aviation by inviting all Senators and Representatives to fly with him. He would take Congressmen up ten at a time, in any Army or Navy plane, show them almost how a plane runs itself, tell them how he once flew from St. Louis to Springfield without touching "the stick." If Congress would be made to KNOW OF ITS OWN KNOWLEDGE that flying is a reality, and especially if Lindbergh could take them in an Army machine and drop a few harmless imitation bombs as he flew, the country might spend a few real dollars on air defense.

International wine growers in Paris ask each country to appoint five experts to recommend moderate use of wine "as a tonic restorative." The most slightly civilized races, Greek, Roman, Italian, French, Spanish, English, have used light wines and use them now. Michelangelo at eighty wrote that he could not have continued his extremely difficult work without the good wine that a nephew sent. He drank plenty of it, several bottles a day.

Wagner found that he could not work without wine. He tried vegetarianism and total abstinence. Both interfered with work. The founders of this country, Washington and Jefferson, drank wine. Jefferson imported his wines from France, and advocated no tax on light wines and beer.

But this country has decided to forbid the use of wine, making a patient, interesting experiment with bootleg whiskey. There will be no official indorsement of wine, no change in the law forbidding it in this country for many a year. Meanwhile, here and there are cases. In California and some other States men that don't like bootleg whiskey buy 50 gallons of grape juice for 50 cents a gallon, make 200 full quarts of wine, enough to last a year, for $25. Cheaper than bootleg whiskey.

NAB FATHER IN KNIFING OF GIRL

In the presence of a woman companion, Mrs. Julia Geezil of Perkins st., East Somerville, was stabbed, probably fatally, in the back on Franklin st., Somerville, today.

Following a battle in a house in Franklin av., Somerville, Mrs. Geezil's father, Thomas Walsh, 49, was arrested by Sergt. Augustine J. Fitzpatrick, charged with the attack.

According to police, Mrs. Geezil was walking with Mrs. Irene Abbott, who lives in Franklin av., at the same address as Walsh. The two women encountered Mrs. Geezil's father, who had been drinking, the police say.

IN DANGEROUS PLIGHT

An argument is said to have started between Walsh and his daughter, which terminated when, according to police, he drew a knife and plunged it into the back of the young woman.

She fell to the sidewalk, and while her companion screamed for help, the assailant fled.

The wounded woman was rushed to the Somerville hospital, where her name was placed on the danger list, and the police were notified.

FATHER BATTLES POLICE

Sergt. Fitzpatrick was assigned to the case by Capt. Kennedy and set forth in his automobile. After following a trail which led him to Sullivan sq. and back to Franklin av., Fitzpatrick entered Walsh's house and found him.

He attempted to place the man under arrest, when a fight started which extended through virtually the whole house, and ended only when the sergeant used his club to subdue Walsh.

The prisoner was locked up on charges of drunkenness and assault with a dangerous weapon.

KIDNAPED CHICAGO MAN RELEASED FOR $10,000

Motorman Wins $10,000 Legacy by His Kindly Deed

A good deed had its reward today when Everett A. Ober for 43 years a motorman in the service of the Eastern Massachusetts Railway Co. learned he had been bequeathed a house and furnishings in Danvers by Mrs. Julia Hartford of Danvers.

For the past five years Ober has assisted Mrs. Hartford off and on the car on the route which takes him through Danvers. His benefactor died last Monday. Her will was read today with the gift, valued at $10,000, set forth in the document for Ober.

RAISING OF S4 BEGUN BY NAVY

The actual effort to raise the sunken submarine S4 began today, and the huge steel hull, encasing the bodies of eight of the crew, is due to break the surface of the sea off Provincetown at 4 p. m.

Because of the sparkling weather and a calm sea, Capt. Ernest J. King, in charge of salvage operations, made a hasty decision to raise the vessel today instead of waiting until tomorrow, as previously planned.

Soon after his decision was flashed to Boston Navy Yard, all was activity.

The last of the six pontoons was put in place, chained to the sunken hull, and the work of filling them

100,000 WILDLY CHEER SOUTH BOSTON PARADE

With 100,000 spectators wildly cheering, South Boston's famous Evacuation Day parade coursed its way over and around historic Dorchester Heights today under a brilliant, cloudless sky.

Just as the marchers were getting underway, Lieut. Albert F. Hegenberger, the South Boston youth who flew over the Pacific to Hawaii, hurried out of the Andrew sq. subway station, was greeted by dignitaries and joined the parade as honorary military marshal.

A few minutes earlier ex-Mayor James M. Curley's car wheeled into line bearing "Al Smith" number plates.

The 6000 marchers, the war veterans with their decorations and the men of public affairs in their tall hats were greeted with thunders of applause.

Headed by Chief Marshal Timothy Maloney, the strictly military parade swung along a five-mile course, standards and colors waving, weapons gleaming and bands playing, the chief feature of the 152d anniversary of the evacuation of Boston by the British.

Public buildings, stores, places of business and residences blossomed in bunting and flags, and the entire peninsula district was given over to the holiday, South Boston's Own Day.

The route led from Andrew sq., through Dorchester st., West Fifth st., E st., West Fourth st., G st.,

ELWELL 'SLAYER' PUT IN PSYCHOPATHIC WARD

New York, March 17—After trying in vain to talk himself into a murder charge, "confessing" he shot and killed Joseph B. Elwell, wealthy turfman and bridge expert, Michael Reegan, unemployed iron worker, was committed today to Kings County Hospital psychopathic ward.

Reegan, who is 37 and lives in Brooklyn, surrendered himself in that borough and was taken for questioning to Inspector John D. Coughlin at Manhattan police headquarters.

Coughlin, who was familiar with the investigation of the Elwell mystery murder in June, 1920, declared positively the man "didn't know what he was talking about." Reegan admitted he has been drinking for several days, police said.

The sportsman was found mortally wounded at 8:30 a. m. on June 11, 1920, in his apartment at 244 West 70th st.

"Reegan said he shot Elwell short-

EDISON STOCK SOARS; REPORT STATE 'LEAK'

A sensational rise today in Boston Edison stock, following a similarly spectacular gain on Friday, led to rumors that there had been a leak giving away in advance the substance of a report due from the Public Utilities Department.

Some persons of prominence in state affairs said bluntly that an investigation might develop from the situation.

Boston Edison jumped to $279.50 a share on the Boston market today a gain of $9.50 from Friday's close. The increase on Friday was $13. The present price is far above the year's low which was $252.

NANCY MILLER WEDS IN BLAZE OF HINDU GLORY

Bombay, March 17 (INS)—Just as twilight was fading into darkness, Miss Nancy Miller, an American girl newly converted to the Hindoo faith, was married today to Tukojirao Holkar, Indian prince and former Maharajah of Indore, before a special nuptial altar in a small jungle of palm trees hard by Barwaha.

A vast crowd saw the rites of the colorful Hindoo marriage ceremonies performed by ritual priests.

Immediately before the rites were begun the bridegroom went to his bride's quarters where he formally asked her hand. As a mark of honor the bridegroom was smeared all over with a saffron pigment and

$274,000,000 WARSHIP BILL PASSED BY HOUSE

Washington, March 17 (AP)—The $274,000,000 new warship construction program was approved today by the House and sent to the Senate. The vote was 287 to 57.

In passing the Butler bill the House voted for construction of 15 cruisers each of 10,000 tons displacement and one aircraft carrier of 13,800 tons.

The measure carries a provision requesting the President to urge the necessity of another international conference for limitation of naval armaments, and gives him authority to suspend the proposed construction either in whole or in part in the event of a limitation agreement.

In addition, the bill provides that eight of the new ships must be built in navy yards.

MORNING STAR FOUND DRIFTING HELPLESSLY; CREW SHORT OF FOOD

With both engines disabled, sails gone and provisions nearly exhausted, but with captain and crew of 22 men safe, the missing Boston fishing schooner Morning Star, mysteriously reported disabled off Chatham yesterday, was found today, 23 miles east of Nauset buoy.

After drifting helplessly since Thursday, the schooner was found by the Coast Guard cutter Bonham, and taken in tow for Provincetown.

News of the discovery was radioed by the Bonham to the Nahant station of the coastguard, the message stating that all on board were safe.

The message from the cutter cleaned up a mystery of the sea that had been agitating many persons since yesterday when the reported disabling of the schooner was exclusively told by the Boston Evening American.

Coast guard vessels had scoured the seas off Cape Cod in the vicinity of Chatham without any trace of the Morning Star being found, and fears were expressed that she had been lost with all hands.

DE MAR HAS TWO-MILE LEAD IN ROAD RACE

Clarence H. DeMar, American Marathon champion plugging away at a steady gait was well on his way to smash a new world's record when he led The Shepard Stores 44 mile road race at West Roxbury. Dodge, running second, was two miles behind.

The demon long distance runner stepping at a steady gait was receiving encouragement from the fans along the sidewalks and road ways. His ever continuous smile as he romped over the roadbed seemed to add strength to his limbs as he was clicking off yards and yards of the distance.

Dodge folowed De Mar as the champion broke away from the pack when crossing from the State of Rhode Island into Massachusetts.

Up until within a mile of Norwood Dodge gave battle to De Mar but lost strength at that point.

Dodge tried in vain to sprint and again catch up to the Melrose star, but failed.

Some half-hundred or more of the Marathon runners got away at 10 o'clock this morning from in front

70 LODGERS DRIVEN OUT BY LYNN FIRE

Seventy persons were driven to the streets early today when fire was discovered in the Independent Beef Company on the first floor of the three-story building at 234 Union st., Lynn.

Several persons partly overcome by smoke were assisted or carried to the street by police and firemen. Of the 70 driven out 50 were lodgers in the Grant house at 4 Silsbee st., connected by a hallway with the Union st. building, in which 20 persons lodged.

From the Grant house Sergt. [illegible] men, carried Mrs. Harriet Johnson, 85, and Mrs. Henrietta Tripp, 83. They lodged on the third floor. Bert Phillips, 65, a cripple, Marguerite Magarian, 11, and Mrs. Eva Hatfield were assisted from 234 Union st. by firemen under direction of Capt. John Day.

A fire wall cutting off the adjoining building occupied by the J. B. Blood market, prevented fighting the flames from the rear. Firemen directed efforts to saving adjoining houses.

Damage to 234 Union st. was estimated at $25,000.

The parade formed at 1:30 and started from Andrew sq. at 2 o'clock. The first stop was at East and West Fourth sts., second at East Fourth and C sts. and the third at G st. and East Broadway. At G st. and West Broadway the parade was formed in a long column and waited the arrival of the guests, including Governor Fuller, Mayor Nichols and distinguished citizens of South Boston to take their places in the reviewing stand at B st. and West Broadway.

MARCHERS REVIEWED.

The chief marshal reviewed the marchers on West Broadway near St. Joseph's Parochial School, thus keeping the organizations in line until they reached the point of dismissal.

The 13th Regiment, U. S. A., was given the place of honor in the van, followed by a large detachment of sailors and marines from the navy yard.

Boston's own 101st Infantry, formerly the old Ninth Regiment, under Col. Arthur W. Desmond, was present in its entirety, and the constant volley of cheers it received testified to the place it holds in the hearts of the citizens.

Following the National Guard there was a detachment of naval and marine reserves and the Massachusetts Nautical Training School was represented by a battalion of cadets.

One of the largest turnouts of veterans in years took place the G. A. R. posts having automobiles for their members. Gold Star mothers and disabled service men were also borne over the route in machines.

Evacuation Day Sidelights

Dorchester ave. and Broadway corners were as decorated with flags as a Christmas tree is with lights.

* * *

The kids got an early start on the celebration of St. Patrick's Day. Flags and shamrocks, horns and hats were but few of the decorative measures the youngsters took to show themselves up in the parade.

* * *

Alice McCarthy, toting an enlarged edition of a shamrock, caused second glances her way as she walked down the avenue.

* * *

The best view of the parade was had at the corner of the avenue and Broadway. Early in the day it was roped off, crowds gathering to hold their own until the band went marching by.

* * *

"Come up, quick," a telephone message was relayed to the sergeant of the South Boston police headquarters. "Where do you live?" queried the officer. No answer other than, "Come up." Again, "What's your address?" from the police sergeant. It was finally decided by the law that the telephone messenger was celebrating and believed in preparedness.

* * *

A green paper bouquet was the most popular indication of St. Patrick lovers. Women as well as men wore it in the coat buttonhole.

* * *

Street vendors were doing a profitable business hours before the parade. Three or four of them took possession of favorable corners and each reaped the reward of his own efforts.

* * *

One saw many bright green ties on the young and old—all joined in the celebration.

Writes of Erin's Gratitude to U.S.

By WILLIAM T. COSGRAVE
President of the Executive Council of the Irish Free State.
Copyright, 1928, by International News Service

DUBLIN, March 17—I am pleased to take the opportunity so kindly offered by the Boston Evening American, through International News Service, of again addressing their Irish readers on St. Patrick's Day.

WM. T. COSGRAVE

I have this year had the opportunity of paying an official visit to the United States as a representative of the Irish Free State. I want to convey to the American Government and the American people an expression of the gratitude and good will of the Irish people for their friendship and succour in the dark days now past.

The reception which was given me as Ireland's messenger has but added to our debt, for by courteous dignity and generous hospitality it was shown that the sentiments of our nation were reciprocated by your government and people.

In their self-reliant efforts to build a state worthy of our race, the Irish people deeply appreciate the sympathy and encouragement of the people of the United States.

I have been asked how Irish men and women in America can help. My answer is: By encouraging our trade with their adopted country and by giving their moral support to whatever government may be elected by the Irish people.

ENLISTS YOUTH IN CHARITABLE IRISH SOCIETY

The enlistment of youth to its ranks was the keynote of the Charitable Irish Society program for the coming year, sounded at its 191st annual meeting today at Hotel Bellevue.

The drive to inject young blood into the society was sponsored by John B. Dore, past president, and was unanimously adopted by the membership present after addresses in its support were delivered by Joseph H. O'Neil and W. T. A. Fitzgerald.

The first step will be taken in the near future with the celebration of a father-and-son night, with the object of bringing Greater Boston youth in contact with the society personnel.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: Hugh A. Carney, president; Francis P. O'Connor, vice-president; John B. Dore, treasurer; John J. Keenan, secretary; John J. McGrath, assistant secretary; Thomas M. Green, keeper of the silver key and chairman of directors.

MILLIS MAN HELD ON POLICE "BRIBE" CHARGE

Charged with attempting to bribe Policeman Peter Driscoll of Westwood in a liquor case, Robert Talent of Exchange st., Millis, was arraigned in Dedham court today. The case was continued to Friday. Bail was fixed at $2,000. Driscoll arrested John F. Galvin of Exchange st., Millis, and seized a quantity of liquor, which Talent is alleged to have asked Driscoll to replace with white vinegar. He was told to return to Driscoll's house at night, police say, and did so, presenting the officer with $50. He was arrested by officers who were hiding in a closet.

Al Smith Whistles "Wearin' o' Green" on Way to Work

Albany, N. Y., March 17 (AP)—Whistling "The Wearin' o' the Green," Governor Smith came to work today in a green shirt, green tie, and a handkerchief of green tucked in his breast pocket. The Governor expressed regret that he was unable to appear in a pair of green shoes.

On his desk lay a brilliant green muffler—the gift of a woman admirer in Flushing, L. I.

DAVISON AND FECHET IN PLANE CRASH IN MEXICO

Mexico City, March 17 (INS)—The airplane in which U. S. Asst. Secretary of War Trubee Davison and Maj.-Gen. James E. Fechet, chief of the U. S. Army Air Corps, were making a flight to Panama, was badly damaged in making a landing on the bank of Coatzacoalcos river, said a dispatch from Puerto Mexico today. Pilot E. A. Kelly was bruised. The accident took place Friday afternoon. The plane plunged into the river and was partly submerged. Kelly saved himself by jumping overboard. Secretary Davison has asked that another plane be sent.

WIFE GETS YEAR IN JAIL FOR DIVORCE PERJURY

Cleveland, March 17 (INS)—Mrs. Elizabeth Seidenfeld, 24, of Rochester, N. Y., today stood sentenced to a year in Marysville reformatory for perjury, in connection with her suit for divorce. Mrs. Seidenfeld was divorced from Irving Beimer, Rochester, here in 1927 and married Morris Seidenfeld of New York, 12 days later. Her latest suit for divorce was filed January 19, last.

$22,500 Bonds Vanish

New York, March 17 (INS)—Liberty and Public Utility bonds valued at $22,500 today disappeared from the pocket of R. M. Zucker, retired business man, while he walked one block from his bank to his automobile.

Reegan said he intervened, was shot at by Elwell, and fired two fatal shots in return.

BECK WINS IN HOUSE ELECTIONS COMMITTEE

Washington, March 17 (AP)—Holding that men who have been chosen as representatives in Congress should not be excluded unless their cases present a clear violation of the Constitution, a House elections committee today recommended that James M. Beck be permitted to retain his seat as a Republican Representative from Pennsylvania. Beck was elected to succeed William S. Vare.

COMMITTEES REACH RADIO COMPROMISE

Washington, March 17 (INS)—A compromise on radio regulation was reached today by a majority of Senate and House conference committees, under which the powers of the Federal Radio Commission would be restored and extended for one year.

Sagamore, March 17 (AP)—Fire fighters of four towns unsuccessfully struggled to control a blaze today in the department store of William Davidow here. Help came from Buzzards Bay, Monument Beach and Sandwich.

SCH. MORNING STAR FOUND; CREW SAFE

22 men, the Morning Star sailed from Boston Tuesday for the South Channel banks. In the crew were:

Edward Hemeon, Harry Hemeon, Gerald Clement, Lexington st., East Boston; George Painter, Princeton st., East Boston; John Deane, Roxbury; "Chap" Hines, Nova Scotia; Barney White, Melrose; Henry Sorette, Everett; Joseph Muise, Charlestown; John Stone, East Boston; Sam Malone, Medford; Elsen Hager, Lexington st., East Boston; William Devine, cook, Salem; John Goodwin, 99 South st., Lynn; Harold Goodwin, 111 Commercial st., Lynn; Angus Goodwin, Roxbury; A. Anderson, engineer, and five other men whose names could not be learned.

The schooner had the customary suit of sails, and was also equipped with two Diesel engines, capable of shoving her along at 10 knots. As a result of this additional motive power, the Morning Star was accustomed to make runs into port frequently, unloading her catch and returning to the fishing grounds the next day.

Nothing further was heard by the vessel's owners, O'Hara Bros., of Boston, until yesterday morning when the tanker Phoenix, bound from Boston to San Pedro, Cal., radioed the navy yard that the schooner was disabled.

HAD CALLED FOR HELP

The captain of the Phoenix at first stated he was standing by, but later announced he was proceeding on his course, repeating that the schooner needed help. He failed to give any details as to her trouble, but the Chatham coast guard station laconically reported that one of the fisherman's masts was gone.

The Phoenix message stated that the disabled schooner needed a revenue cutter, and the cutter Morrill, together with the coast guard destroyer Conyingham, were ordered to the assistance of the disabled Morning Star, whose position was given by the Phoenix as 20 miles southeast of Chatham.

Although the rescue ships should have reached the scene in about an hour, having been ordered to proceed at full speed, nothing was heard from them until 6 o'clock last night. At that time they reported they had circled the seas off the coast for miles, swinging down into cape waters, but had been unable to find the crippled fisherman.

All through the night fears were felt for the safety of the captain and crew of the Morning Star, although O'Hara Bros. pointed out that she carried nests of dories, the most seaworthy small craft known, in which the men could have reached shore easily. At that time there was no definite information to what had happened to the schooner, but it was assumed her engines had failed and that she had been dismasted.

Early today the search was again taken up and shortly after nine o'clock the Nahant coastguard station picked up a welcome radio from the Bonham that the Morning Star had been located 23 miles east of the Nauset buoy off Cape Cod.

SAUGUS THE PLACE, MY BOY FOR YOUR PETTING PARTY

It won't be long now before Lovers' Lane will be crowded again. Chief of Police Roland Mansfield of Saugus has ordered his policemen to refrain from interfering with lovers parked in automobiles if the head and tail lights of the car are on.

"I have long maintained that so long as the occupants of parked cars display head and tail lights, that it is not the duty of this department to molest them," he said.

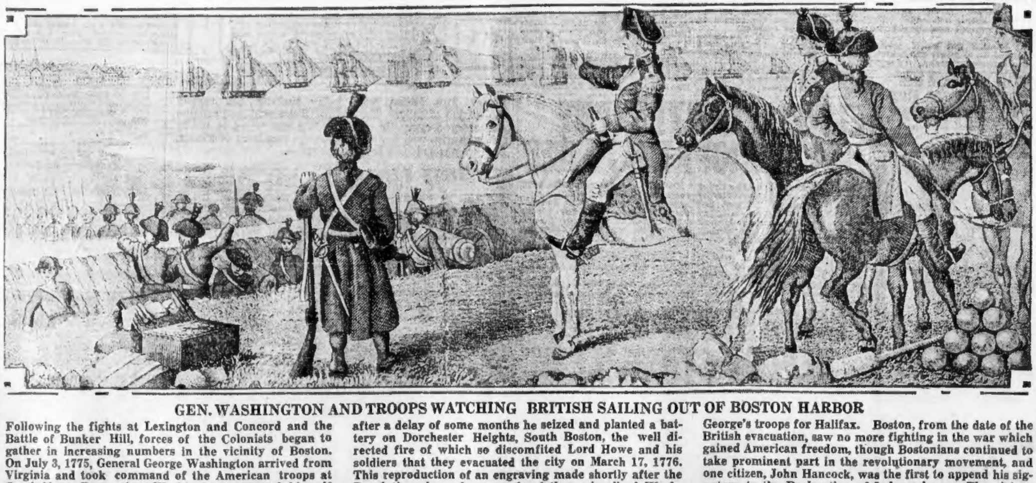
The can, is was believed, contained nitroglycerine. The victims, Gaylord Clark, 14; Howard Doak, 12, and Harry Williams, 16, lived in West Union, W. Va.

How Our Forefathers ⁂ Visualized the First Evacuation Day



GEN. WASHINGTON AND TROOPS WATCHING BRITISH SAILING OUT OF BOSTON HARBOR

Following the fights at Lexington and Concord and the Battle of Bunker Hill, forces of the Colonists began to gather in increasing numbers in the vicinity of Boston. On July 3, 1775, General George Washington arrived from Virginia and took command of the American troops at Cambridge. For a time Washington contented himself with keeping the British army confined to Boston, but after a delay of some months he seized and planted a battery on Dorchester Heights, South Boston, the well directed fire of which so discomfited Lord Howe and his soldiers that they evacuated the city on March 17, 1776. This reproduction of an engraving made shortly after the Revolution shows how our forefathers visualized Washington and his soldiers watching the departure of King George's troops for Halifax. Boston, from the date of the British evacuation, saw no more fighting in the war which gained American freedom, though Bostonians continued to take prominent part in the revolutionary movement, and one citizen, John Hancock, was the first to append his signature to the Declaration of Independence. The picture which is reproduced dates back nearly 140 years.

'GOOD WILL CRUISERS' OF CHAMBER OFF FOR SOUTH

THEY'LL FLOUT PERIL TO HOP FROM SHIP AT SEA

DORIS WANTS TO DIE IN NEW BLACK SILK DRESS

THRILLING TRIP WILL BE TOLD ON RADIO

By BERT FORD

(Staff Corespondent of the Boston Evening American.)

On Board the S.S. Calamares, March 17—The "Good Will" expedition of Boston Chamber of Commerce to the West Indies and Central America is under way.

The start was made this afternoon. Ideal weather prevailed. Friends of the good will envoys crowded Long Wharf to wish the excursionists bon voyage. The palatial Calamares, flagship of the United Fruit Company's fleet, was gay in holiday bunting that snapped in a brisk east wind.

Lindbergh winged his way southward as a good will envoy of the air. Already the members of Boston Chamber of Commerce and their wives and daughters aboard ship have been christened "Good Will Ambassadors of the Sea."

ON FLAGSHIP.

They are carrying to our Latin neighbors in the South the most fervent and cordial feelings.

Capt. Henry Spencer, formerly port captain in New York, brought the Calamares to Boston from New York as a special courtesy for the convenience of the New England party which is the largest that ever

A HOME PAPER FOR PEOPLE WHO THINK
BOSTON, SATURDAY, MARCH 17, 1928

GIRL SLAYER IS LOSING HOPE, SAYS MOTHER

Montreal, Que., March 17 (INS)—Doris Palmer, 20-year-old American girl who is scheduled to be hanged in Valleyfield next Friday, wants to die in a pretty frock of her own choosing and not in prison garb.

She has asked her mother, Mrs. Hazel Greco, of Chicago, to buy a black silk dress of fashionable design for her.

"My poor child is losing hope of clemency and she is preparing for the worst," the mother said today.

Doris attends church services in the jail every day and is frequently in communion with Fr. Brault, the prison chaplain. When her thoughts are not occupied with spiritual things she becomes hysterical and confides to the Good Shepherd nuns that she is terrified by the vision of dying on the scaffold.

She brightened somewhat after a conversation at the bars of her cell with Atty. W. E. Cregari of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., who, with R. L. Calder and J. A. Legault, her trial lawyers, are endeavoring to stay the execution. The three attorneys held a lengthy conference and it was decided that Legault should go to the Bordeaux prison, eight miles away, to confer with George McDonald, who is scheduled to die with Doris at the same hour for the murder of Adelard Bouchard, a taxicab driver.

At Valleyfield prison plans went forward for the double hanging.

Warned of Flood

TWO POOR HUB GIRLS MADE HEIRESSES

A long-awaited ray of sunshine broke through for two modern Cinderellas today at 602 Massachusetts ave., with the announcement from Canada of an inheritance totaling $175,075.

With the announcement, a story of mother love for two girls, deserted by her husband at Rochester, N. Y., a long struggle and misery was revealed as the life of Mrs. Anna Griffiths and her daughters, Virginia, 10 and Geoargiana, 8.

The little family stepped off the train seven years ago penniless and went to the Chardon st. home, when relatives, unaware of their arrival, failed to meet them.

The young mother got a job. She fought her way through laborious factory work, lived in poverty, but always kept the kiddies. She made beds at a Harvard dormitory and performed other menial tasks.

Today the mother was notified of the legacy left the children by her erring husband's mother. The slice of the estate law unclaimed for four years when his family, like the mother he deserted, the children he forgot, knew nothing of his whereabouts.

The children, hardly able to grasp the meaning of their good fortune, run happily about the house of their aunt, Mrs. Mary Sheldon. They knew something happened to make the devoted mother happy. They know she can stay home with them now.

MOVE TO OUST KLAN FROM R. I. TROOPS

Providence, R. I., March 17 (INS)—Charges and counter-charges today followed an expose that the Ku Klux Klan through enlistments had secured control of three units of the First Light Infantry of Rhode Island, a survival but not a part of the National Guard.

Nearly 200 klansmen have purchased regulation army rifles and have a machine gun.

Col. Harold A. Braman, in charge of the three companies, declared Adjt.-Gen. Arthur Cole knew of double enlistment blanks, knew the klansmen were getting control of the units. Braman said he would demand impeachment of Cole.

Cole branded these statements as "silly" and that he was asking Atty. Gen. Charles P. Sisson for an opinion as to whether the light infantrymen had a legal right to carry rifles without the consent of the state militia.

Under the double enlistment plan, admitted by officials to have taken place, recruits were taken into the klan and the light infantry at the same time.

Rep. Thomas P. McCoy announced he would ask the legislature to revoke the charter of Companies E, F and H.

U. S. Judges Indorse Drug Curb Bill

Washington, March 17 (INS)—Pleas by federal judges in all parts of the country for Congressional action to curb the drug evil were revealed in letters made public today by Rep. Stephen Porter, Republican, of Pennsylvania, author of a bill to establish federal "dope farms."

Passage of the measure would mark a great advancement in the development of the federal penal system, the judges declared.

Porter plans to take the judicial pleas to the House judiciary committee within the next two weeks, seeking a place on the House calendar for his measure.

The judges all laid stress upon the difficulty of handling narcotic addicts under the present laws. Under the Porter bill two federal farms would be established to which all federal prisoners who are "dope fiends" would be sent.

"I have been on the district bench for six years, and have been compelled to send quite a number—I expect as many as 40 or 50—to the Atlanta prison, who are criminal addicts, but who might be cured at a proper place under proper treatment," wrote Judge George W. McClintic, of Huntington, W. Va.

"Most of those who come back from Atlanta insist that there is no difficulty in getting supplies of morphine, or whatever they want, in that prison.

"I appreciate the fact that this is likely exaggerated, but with the enormous number that are there, and the various kinds of guards that they have, it is quite likely that more or less of the 'stuff' is smuggled in."

Judge Robert T. Ervin, of Mobile, Ala., wrote that "we have needed very badly for many years some place where these poor unfortunates could be treated scientifically and segregated from the ordinary criminals."

"It has long been a crying need of the government and I do not believe that any greater work can be done, both from the standpoint of humanitarianism and the national and social good which this bill seeks to accomplish," said Judge Joseph H. Hutcheson, Jr., of Houston, Tex.

Similar endorsement came from Judge William H. Atwell, Dallas, Tex., and Richard B. McSweeney, probation officer of the federal court at Boston.

sailed from this port on a United Fruit liner.

Maj. H. L. Harris and other officials of the United Fruit Company had attended to the last detail with the result that the Calamares stopped here only long enough to take passengers and baggage aboard.

SPECIAL FEATURES

The cruise, one of the most delightful in the tropics, is to be marked by special features aboard ship and side trips and receptions in the countries visited.

William J. Fortune, vice-president of National Shawmut Bank, is to act as special guide, counsellor and toastmaster for the party. He is an expert economist and a finished orator.

The Boston Evening American will keep its readers posted by radio from day to day relative to activities aboard the Calamares and the tours and receptions en route.

The first stop will be in Havana, which will be reached Wednesday morning. The Havana Chamber of Commerce will entertain the good-will envoys during their stay of two days in that city and environs.

From Havana the party will go to Port Antonio, Jamaica, which will be reached March 26. Proceeding to Kingston, where civic organizations will do the honors.

VISIT TO PANAMA

The Kingston Chamber of Commerce will furnish special entertainment. The Calamares will leave Kingston March 27 in the evening and will go direct to Cristobal, at the entrance of the Panama Canal.

The party will be taken through the canal and to the City of Panama. The Panama Association of Commerce in Panama City and the Colon Board of Trade and the Rotary Club at Colon will give the New Englanders receptions. The Calamares will head for home on March 30, stopping at Port Limon, C. R. The party will land in New York. The cruise will last twenty-one days.

The personnel includes George C. Barstow, Mrs. Barstow and Nathaniel C. Barstow of Gardiner, Me.; Mrs. J. J. Buckley of Winchester, Richard Brunel and Mrs. Brunel of Worcester; Alfred H. 4000 Photos Made in Second to Show Engine's Work

Photographs can now be taken at the rate of 4000 a second with exposures of one-millionth of a second, William F. Joachim, head of engine research for the advisory committee of aeronautics at Lengley Field, Va., disclosed in a lecture at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Speaking on high speed fuel injection engines, Mr. Joachim told of research being carried on in the Diesel type engine. In order to study the action of the fuel as it is sprayed into the cylinder under high pressure, a photographic device was developed to picture what takes place within the cylinder.

Making exposures at the rate of 4000 a second, completion of the spraying operation was shown in 10 photographs. The exposure is made by the illumination from a high-tension spark. The camera is attached to a specially designed combustion chamber and the photograph made is made through heavy plate glass.

DENIS A. M'CARTHY TO SPEAK IN WORCESTER

Denis A. McCarthy, LL. D., will be the principal speaker at the St. Patrick's Day celebration of the United Hibernians of Worcester, this evening. Dr. McCarthy's address will be on "The Sunny Side of Ireland" and will include readings from his own poems.

A concert of Irish music will precede the lecture.

The affair is in charge of a committee headed by Atty. Philip H. Breen, president of the United Hibernian Divisions of Worcester.

$25,000 G. O. P. 'SLUSH' FUND NOT FOUND

Chicago, March 17 (AP)—Additional testimony that the Cook County Republican committee made no contribution of $25,000 to the Republican national committee in 1924 was given today to the Senate Teapot Dome sub-committee at its closing session here.

Notation of such a gift is contained in the records of the late Fred W. Upham, national treasurer up to June, 1924. The Senate investigators are seeking to determine whether some of the $60,000 of Sinclair Liberty bonds Upham received from Will H. Hays for political use were sold and the proceeds credited to the Cook County committee.

Alexander Fyffe, "honorary chairman" in Cook County during 1924, testified his committee received $100,759 from the Republican national committee, none of which was returned. He added his committee made no contribution to the national party organization.

The Senate investigators learned from Philip D. Armour, nephew of the late J. Ogden Armour, and F. Edson White, president of Armour & Co., that on Sept. 8, 1924, they contributed $4000 each.

B. A. Eckhart, assistant treasurer of the Republican national committee, asked them to make gifts during the Coolidge Presidential campaign.

With the exception of Leonard, the sub-committee closed the Chicago hearings after Chairman Nye had read into the record a letter from Upham to William J. Louderbock, dated May 4, 1922, and suggesting that "the Deerings interests" contribute $5000.

"President Harding and his cabinet have performed mighty satisfactorily," Upham wrote. "Although there have been some disappointments at the slowness of legislation by Congress, when you consider that it took from one to eight years to get us into such terrible trouble, a lot has really been accomplished."

FLIERS TO HUNT HINCHLIFFE

Washington, March 17 (AP)—Permission was granted to the Canadian government today for Canadian aircraft to fly over American territory in search of the missing British transatlantic plane carrying Capt. Walter Hinchliffe and the Hon. Elsie Mackay.

The request was granted by the state department after application by the Canadian legation.

TWO HORSES, NINE PIGS LOST IN MILLIS FIRE

Millis, March 17 (AP)—Two horses and nine pigs were burned to death in a fire which destroyed two barns, 40 tons of hay and a large amount of farming implements on the farm of Richard K. Thorndike, Boston millionaire, causing a loss of $12,000.

Fire apparatus was called from Millis, Medfield and Rockville, and after the firemen had exhausted the water in a large cistern 2400 feet of hose was laid to the Charles River.

WOMAN 'DEAD 5 MINUTES' AT MARBLE STAIRS

San Francisco, March 17 (AP)—The Examiner today reported the case of a woman being "brought back to life" by a surgical operation after her heart, pulse and respiratory organs had stopped functioning for five minutes.

The patient, Mrs. I. S. Weil, wife of a Chicago merchant, described briefly her impressions of "being dead." Said she:

"It was a feeling like rising through the air. I seemed to see marble steps. Then I fell upon my head. Next I heard a nurse say, 'Are you back Mrs. Weil?'"

Mrs. Weil had been critically ill for months from a tumor at the base of the brain. She had entered the University of California Hospital here in a critical condition.

Dr. Howard Naffziger, brain specialist, was at her side when she apparently became lifeless. He rushed her to the operating room and removed the tumor. She is expected to recover.

LINER CRASHES BATTLESHIP

San Pedro, Cal., March 17 (AP)—The coastwise steamship Ruth Alexander of the Admiral line, collided with the U. S. S. Colorado just inside the harbor breakwater here last night, damaging the liner's bow and ripping a hole in the battleship's armor about ten feet above the waterline.

There were no casualties aboard the vessels.

2 SENTENCED IN THEFT FROM GIRLS IN AUTO

Accused by two girls of stealing $14 and a diamond ring from them during an automobile ride, John J. Milan of Broadway, and Cornelius Lee of East 5th st., South Boston, were found guilty today in East Cambridge district court and sentenced to three months each in the House of Corection. They appealed and were held in $1000 bail.

The girls are Miss Gertrude English, 22, proprietor of a South Boston beauty parlor, and Miss Rose Galvin, 20. The ride led to a back road in Belmont instead of to their homes, the girls testified.

WARREN CONSULTS FULLER ON "L" PURCHASE PLANS

At the request of Governor Fuller, Senator Charles C. Warren of Arlington, chairman of the legislative committee on street railways and metropolitan affairs, which is deliberating on the Boston Elevated problem, conferred tdoay with the Governor and the latter's personal counsel, Joseph Wiggin.

Senator Warren said he favored giving the "L" stockholders a last chance to accept public control, with less than they are now getting, and in the event they refuse, of exercising immediately the State option to purchase.

Terms Dresses Lavishly Brilliant

Society Critic Suggests Somebody Should Open Purse Strings and Donate Prizes for the Next Affair

WHEN THE JUNIOR SUPPER DANCE SET CAN PUT ON SO BRILLIANT A COSTUME party as last evening's affair, some generous minded individual should loosen the purse strings and donate prizes. But in such a plethora of excellence judges would have a pretty problem for their solving. The Younger Set outdid itself. Its costumes were amazingly perfect. And lavishly detailed. Were I judge and the parade were passing before me I should vacillate between donating first prize to Mrs. William Yorke Peters, Jr., or to Mrs. Leighton Brewer.

A STUNNING PEACOCK LADY, SLENDER and willowy as the gorgeous creature that preens on sloping lawn or grassy terrace, Mrs. Brewer scorned the peacock feather as bringer of bad luck, and wore several in her lofty headdress. Mrs. Peters was the Lady of the Nile, from the tips of her pointed sandals to the sphinx-like headdress that completed her costume. Mrs. Lyman Rice was another headliner in the costume contest, wearing a "Prince in the Tower" doublet and hose, and a most becoming auburn wig. Mrs. Joseph W. Woods looked like a French figure, one of the silver plated sort that decorate shop windows. for cameo-like beauty was exactly the thing for silver wig and silver sheath gown.

MRS. GEORGE RICHMOND FEARING, 3D, was an Hawaiian, with grass skirts and tinkling bracelets. Identically a repetition of the Pacific Isles maiden was Mrs. Frederic Dumaine. Mrs. Robert L. Raymond, Jr., wore Mid-European peasant prints and many a clinking bracelet. On her native heath she would have been the village belle, without doubt. Miss Helen Moseley's very authentic Russian costume was done in bright reds, intricately and heavily embroidered. Miss Mary Otis swathed her pretty helf in Oriental veilings, to masculine devastation. So likewise did the slenderly tall and willowy Miss Rosamond Thomas.

AS ESSENTIALLY SPANISH AS THE CLICK of the castanets was Mrs. Henry Shaw Rogerson. Her brilliant dark type splendidly enhanced the Spanish habiliments. Mr. and Mrs. Langdon Sullivan were in white satin with black pompons, a prepossessing Pierrot and Pierrette. Miss Anne Wentworth's moyen-age gown was of hyacinthe blue velvet with trailing chiffon sleeves. Miss Margaret Wentworth was a Gypsy, colorful and romantic. Miss Juliet Greene put a coquettish rose behind her ear and a tall, tall comb in her hair and otherwise was demure in crisp taffeta and gossamer lace, as a Creole belle is demure behind flirtatious fan.

THOSE WHO FIND CHARMS IN BERMUDA'S cedar-laden air and turquoise sea and the quaintness of whitewashed houses set in tropical gardens are many. Many as regards Boston, that is; and of social importance. And certain Bostonians having the entree show a decided preference to make their Bermuda stay at the Mid-Ocean Club out in Tucker's Town, near Tom Moore's house. It's a club of excellencies—cuisine, selectiveness, attractiveness—and it sports the very sportiest and most difficult of all golf courses. It is creme de la creme in every way, is the Mid-Ocean, and fortunate are those belonging to or "put up" at it.

MR. AND MRS. NORMAN CABOT AND MR. AND MRS. FREDERICK HOOD are among the select few to be domiciled at the Mid-Ocean. And the splendid golf course is prime attraction for Messrs. Cabot and Hood. Mr. and Mrs. Barker Converse are in Bermuda, and also putting in late winter in the Summer Isles are young Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hood. If my genealogical memories serve as they should, I recall Mrs. Donald Hood as the pretty Alva Brown of Chestnut st. in Salem. Chestnut st., that aristocratic thoroughfare of tall and handsome homes, where seafaring Salemites spent their at-home days between voyages to China and the Indies.

BUT OF BERMUDA—MR. AND MRS. ROCKWOOD H. BULLOCK and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Dewey make a Worcester family party at the Hotel Princess. Mrs. Bellows Robinson also is a guest at the Princess, and so are Mr. and Mrs. Walter I. Badger of Marlborough st. That young man who plays polo so enthusiastically with the Dedham Country and Polo Club, Philip Saltonstall, is just back from Bermuda, where he acquired the most enviable coat of tan. George Mandell is another Bostonian spoken of in Bermuda news. In fact, the mails from the mid-ocean winter rendezvous are quite preponderantly Bostonian in flavor.

CROSSING ON THE FLAGSHIP ILE DE FRANCE, that only last night at midnight poked her nose into the stream, bound Europeward, are Mr. and Mrs. George Peabody Gardner, Jr.; Allan Curtis, and Mrs. Harry Parsons Cross, making an interesting though small contingent of interest to Boston and Providence. This most modern of palatial Atlantic liners is taking back to France any number of notable and spectacular persons. Its list fairly overflows with names of those whose goings and comings serve well as journalistic copy, and frequently figure in headlines.

RENE FONCK SAILS ABOARD THE ILE DE FRANCE. Miss Belle Skinner, good fairy to devastated towns of France, is taking over to her favorite Hatton Chatel more funds and more good will to aid its complete restoration. Mrs. Reginald Vanderbilt, with small daughter, Gloria, embarks after the briefest of stays on this side. And so many are bound for the Grand National it seems the whole shipload has that sporting destination for its journey's end. Boston's contingent at Liverpool this season is smaller than usual—but what it lacks in numbers it will make up in individual energy. B. Nason Hamlin will be there, and so will General Francis Peabody.

MRS. JOHN CLUNIE, A SUPPER DANCE hostess, wore a marvelous Muscovite costume, perfect in detail from red boots to the topmost peak of pointed and bejeweled headdress. Miss Helen Rust was a pretty, fluffy, pink pompon. Miss Betty Bartlett's black and white costume was reminiscent of Vincent Club "Varieties"—I'm quite sure it was a part of that very successful stage production. One of the bridesmaid's frocks that walked down the aisle with Mrs. Hamilton Warren Thursday was in the throng, but which bridesmaid wore it I could not tell. The crush was enormous.

RUN ON BANK HEADED OFF BY CASH

Cohasset, March 17—The rushing of $10,000 in currency to the Cohasset Savings Bank from a Hingham institution and positive assurances given a few frightened depositors by bank officials effectually stopped an incipient "run" today on the bank, following disclosure of a $1500 shortage.

Treasurer Gordon M. Keating, who has been discharged and who is missing, has not yet been made the subject of charges, although it was announced that bank auditors have reported the shortage to the attorney-general.

The bonding company which bonded Keating for $30,000 will have to make charges that may be made against Keating, Dr. Oliver H. Howe, chairman of the board of directors, said.

A few depositors appeared at the teller's window today and one couple drew out $3100, while another man withdrew $900. But that ended the "scare."

Explaining the directors' view of Keating's supposed responsibility for the shortage, which officials of the bank are confident will not be more than $1500, Dr. Howe said:

"Keating was keenly interested in the rehabilitation of Colonial houses in Scituate. He borrowed $4500 by using a straw name to circumvent the law that forbids officials of a bank borrowing from their own bank.

"The loan board approved the loan after inspecting the property. Keating recently sold that particular house for $8000. We are positive he was not engaged in stock market gambling, and he did not live pretentiously. Therefore, we feel certain that no larger amount is involved."

Keating left his Braintree home Thursday morning at the usual hour and has not been seen since he was in Hingham, apparently en route to Cohasset, a short time afterward. Associates said he was of a highly nervous temperament.

COMPROMISE ON RADIO BILL

Washington, March 17 (INS)—A compromise on radio regulation was reached today by a majority of Senate and House conference committees under which the powers of the Federal Radio Commission would be restored and extended for one year.

Refusal of Rep. David (D) of Tennessee and Bland (D) of Virginia to agree to the report, however, presaged another fight on the floor of the House.

FLO ZIEGFELD ORDERED TO TAKE COMPLETE REST

New York, March 17—Flo Ziegfeld of Follies fame has been ordered to take a complete rest by his physician, Dr. Jerome Wagner. At Ziegfeld's office it was said the theatrical impresario has left for his camp in the wilds of Canada.

RETURN OF OLD FRIENDS BRINGS GREAT EXPECTATIONS FOR NEW WEEK'S DRAMA

"BEHOLD THE BRIDEGROOM"! This newest Kelly play, which comes to the Shubert, deals with the hazard of matrimony as practiced in modern civilized society. Judith Anderson and Lester Vail are the happy (?) pair.

WHERE men are menaced. Marie Callahan threatens Don Rowan with complete annihilation in "Good News," new musical coming Monday to the Majestic.

GABY FAY, smiling member of Mr. Clive's railroad crew in "The Wrecker," the new choo-choo train mystery thingumajig now running at the Copley.

"JUST FANCY" anyone dressing like this for a modern musical comedy. Apparently the show is, as they say, "different." H. Reeves Smith and Ivy Sawyer are two of the players.

"SATURDAY'S CHILDREN" not only work hard for a living, as the old adage has it, but the girls are prone to compel the boys to propose to them. At the Plymouth you will find Ruth Gordon and Ruth Hammond the possessors of the most delectable scheme for catching husbands ever known.

BARGAIN DAYS ARE WITH THE DRAMA

By NICHOLAS YOUNG

IF you can believe the pleasant little items of the theater which now and then creep into the public prints, Mr. Florenz Ziegfeld not only rides high and free as Broadway's most prolific producer of the current season but seeks still higher glory as the playgoer's good friend and benefactor. Mr. Ziegfeld is attempting what many of the most profound minds of the drama have tagged as impossible—he is making gorgeously crowded musical plays fit the lean purse of the plain family man. With the Ziegfeld shows in New York, and he presides over four of the smartest, these are just bargain days for the anxious, tantalized customer.

* * *

PRICES bring their own anxieties and agonies to the play producer, especially to the man dabbling in heavily accoutred musicals. Productions must be prodigious if you hope to catch the fleeting eye; company organizations must be more than ample. Extra musicians and stage hands merely add fresh financial misery to the producer holding the bag. More than anyone else on the creative side of musical shows, Mr. Ziegfeld has been the perspiring victim of staggering expense. All is not profit that enters at the gate. On a recent engagement at the Colonial he is reported to have lost $8,000 in two weeks of capacity business. This doesn't read like good showmanship, but in defense you are told that Ziegfeld never shaves the corners when preparing a production for a long, hard drill on the road. Boston losses may be turned into Cincinnati profits.

* * *

ANYONE who knows his Broadway will acclaim this as a decisive Ziegfeld season. Four of New York's most gallant bits are flying the Ziegfeld banner. And yet, hardly two years ago this same man was pointed out by deep-browed seers of the drama as being through—all boxed and labelled for that theatrical limbo where worn-out producers are sunk without trace. Obviously these observations disturbed the Ziegfeldian mind—made him downright angry—for he has assailed the present season with a determination and precision which has left nothing to the imagination. Not in the memory of the oldest suit and cloak buyer, and these boys have a considerable influence on the theaters in Manhattan, has any single producer held the reins on such rousing outbursts of successful entertainment as "Rosalie," "The Three Musketeers," "Rio Rita" and "Show Boat."

* * *

AND to prove his case with the man who stands outside the box-office, Mr. Ziegfeld now proposes to make it easier for the customers. At a re-scaling of "Rio Rita" the prices have been fixed at a $3.85 maximum and no more; for matinees $2.75 is the top price. And you are coaxed toward "Rosalie" with the promise of "458 reserved seats at one dollar." Upon the Broadway measure of profit and loss, these are bargain prices—just giving the shows away! Evidently the gentleman is a progressive merchandiser; he knows the theatrical structure and he contrives sales plans all his own.

"HITCHY" HAS HIS JOKE

Raymond Hitchcock, star comedian in Joseph Santley's musical comedy, "Just Fancy," which comes to the Wilbur on Monday, is known as a great practical joker. His latest demonstration took place in Chicago.

Raymond Hitchcock

About 11:30 one morning Hitchcock strolled into the theater and wandered into the box office. While conversing with the treasurer, a man walked up and laid a dime on the box office window. "Hitchy" quickly grabbed a "pass out" check, took the dime, then hastened to the entrance of the theater. The stranger walked up to the door, "Hitchy" took the pass out check and escorted him into the dark auditorium and down to the fourth row on the center aisle.

The comedian then went backstage and with the help of the watchman, turned on the footlights. He sang a song, danced a jig, told a joke, turned off the lights, then calmly walked back to the box office. Whereupon the stranger came up to the box office window and hurled into it the remark, "I have been stung!"

Clothes Aid Actress in Character Portrayal

Clothes sound the pitch of a person's personality and, combined with the voice, emphasize the role which a person must play. Voice and clothes are, in fact, the two chief factors in getting over to an audience and are more important than any lines in a play. Such is the observation of Edith Speare, second leading lady of the Keith-Albee stock company at the St. James. In her work she is called upon to play a variety of roles, usually in direct contrast to those played by Ruth King, leading lady of the company. She must, therefore, be of such character and voice as to stand in sharp contract to the leading lady.

TILLIE LIVES ONCE MORE

"Tillie's Punctured Romance," at the Metropolitan, is a war comedy into which a big circus is dumped right in the thick of the fray.

In the first place, Tillie's mama also played by Louise Fazenda, runs off to the circus from a strawberry festival, deserting the lugubrious Mack Swain for the dapper lion tamer, Chester Conklin—which is circus number one. The second is a three-ringed affair owned by the irresistible Conklin. It is here that Tillie is found, for she like her mama, is susceptible to the lure of the sawdust. Here also W. C. Fields, ringmaster extraordinary, enters the plot.

It is circus number three, however, that takes the cake. Sent overseas to entertain the doughboys, it gets blown by the draft over the German side; here the comedy becomes hysterical.

"Tillie's Punctured Romance," as may be assumed, is a modern version of the old film which starred Chaplin, Mabel Normand, Louise Dresser and other notables. The present version, as up-to-date as a new Ford, was directed by Edward Sutherland, whose humorous genius brought about much of the success of "Behind the Front," "We're in the Navy Now" and other Beery-Hatton successes.

NEXT WEEK'S NEW BILLS

SHUBERT—Judith Anderson in "Behold, the Bridegroom," a play by George Kelly. The story of a woman who looks into a mirror and sees her soul instead of her features. In the supporting cast are Richard Gordon, Dodd Meehan, Thurston Hall, Kenneth Lawton, Mary Gildea, Mary Servoss, Jean Dixon, Virginia Russell, Carl Hamilton, Clarence Bellair and Marion Evenson. Staged by George Kelly. Produced by the Shuberts.

* * *

MAJESTIC—"Good News," a musical comedy. Book by Laurence Schwab and B. G. Sylvia; lyrics by Lew Brown; score by Ray Henderson. College boys and girls in campus cut-ups, with tunes to match. In the cast are William Wayne, Marie Callahan, Don Lanning, Mildred Costello, Delores Farris, John Philbrick, Don Rowan and Thelma White. George Olsen and his band is another feature. Dances by Bobby Connolly; staged by Edgar MacGregor. Produced by Schwab and Mandel.

* * *

WILBUR—Joseph Santley in "Just Fancy." Musical comedy based on E. A. Thomas' "Just Suppose." Book by Mr. Santley and Gertrude Purcell; lyrics by Leo Robin; music by Joseph Meyer and Phillip Charig. In the supporting cast are Raymond Hitchcock, Ivy Sawyer, Eric Blore, Mrs. Thomas Whiffen, John Hundley, Bernice Acherman, Bobbie Tremaine and Gertrude Lemmon. Staged and produced by Mr. Santley.

* * *

ST. JAMES—(Stock) "Dancing Mothers," a play by Edgar Selwyn and Edmund Goulding. The story concerns a woman of 40 who suddenly finds herself "on the shelf." The leading roles are taken by Clara Joel, Frank Charlton, Walter Gilbert and Marion Swayne.

* * *

GAYETY—(Burlesque) "Band Box Revue," a concoction of music, mirth and satire. In the cast are "Sheikee," a dancer; Jack Erickson, Anna Propp, Margie Burke, Ruth Darling, Al Flatico, Clyde Schaffer and Henry Neiser.

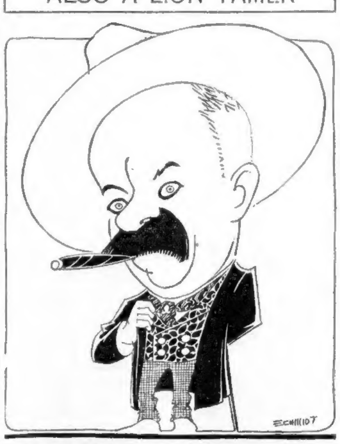
RACHMANINOFF RECITAL

Sergei Rachmaninoff, famous pianist and composer, will give a recital in Symphony Hall, on Sunday afternoon, March 25. The great Russian will then make his second and last appearance of the season here.

JUNIORS' CONCERT

The Boston Symphony Orchestra will give the third and last pair of Young People's Concerts of the season, in Symphony Hall, on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons, March 21 and 22. The program will be conducted by Richard Burgin.

ALSO A LION TAMER



CHESTER CONKLIN, generally such a sad little fellow of the films, now bristles up as the magnificent, circus-owning Mr. Frisbee in the new version of "Tillie's Punctured Romance" at the Metropolitan.

Lady Harriet

ADELE VASA will sing Lady Harriet in "Martha" with the American Opera Company Monday at the Hollis.

OPERAS WILL CONTINUE

The American Opera Company, giving opera in English with all-American casts at the Hollis, will repeat its first week's repertoire for the second and final week of its Boston engagement.

The operas will be presented in a different order. Von Flotow's "Martha" will be presented Monday evening. On Tuesday evening "Pagliacci" will be the opera, and in addition there will be a special program headed by Michio Ito, Japanese dancer, who has assisted Director Vladimir Rosing in the staging of the operas.

"Faust" will be given on Wednesday afternoon, Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro" on Wednesday evening; his "Abduction from the Seraglio" on Thursday evening; "Faust" again on Friday evening, "Carmen" on Saturday afternoon, and "Madame Butterfly" on Saturday evening.

Play Old Mozart Opera Here for First Time

Mozart's "Abduction from the Seraglio," a century and a half old, was a long time in getting to Boston, for last night's performance in English by the American Opera Company was the first in this city and probably the second in America. To say that it was welcome is putting it mildly; the score is delightful, and it is difficult to explain why it has been neglected.

The spirit in which it was presented was that of broad farce, which, however, very likely carried out the intentions of composer and librettist, who were building on the old German "Singspiel," a contemporary equivalent of our musical plays of today. The music was for the most part delightfully sung and played, the English adaptation was suggestive but very funny, and the scenery was a triumph of invention.

Mr. St. Leger, conducting the orchestra in the pit, had as much as anyone else to do with the success of the production, working with might and main to make the most of the music, which it must have been a temptation to slight in favor of the comedy lines.

JUNGLE FILM SETTLES AT COLONIAL

During his four years in the African wilds, Martin Johnson obtained the motion picture, "Simba," coming to the Colonial tomorrow, in which one of the most thrilling moments is that in which he and Mrs. Johnson find themselves in the center of a stampede of wild elephants.

Martin Johnson

The Johnsons made most of their film in parts of deepest Africa which had never before been invaded by white men, and parts in which even the black man did not roam. Here they found all animals singularly unafraid and peaceful.

They built a home on the edge of a beautiful lake (Mrs. Johnson named it Lake Paradise) right in the midst of this wildest region, and here obtained some of the best shots seen in the film.

Elephants were among the most frequent visitors to Mrs. Johnson's garden, but their fondness for her sweet potato patch was turned to good account. Some superb flashlight photos were taken of the robbers.

But as they could not wait for chance to bring them elephant pictures, the Johnsons went out after them and at last found themselves in the midst of 20 or 30 of the bulking beasts.

New Drama Being Produced at Grand Opera House

Isidore Hollander, who has just finished his production of "The Witch," A. Goldfaden's classical operetta at the Grand Opera House, will direct and produce a drama called "Pictures of Life" which has had a successful run in New York.

Hannah Hollander, leading lady of the troupe, will enact a highly dramatic role making the tenth she has essayed this season.

After this there will be a lull in the doings of the Grand Opera House for one week.

HOROWITZ IS SENSATION IN DEBUT

By MOSES SMITH

The wildest acclaim accorded a soloist in over a decade that the writer has been attending symphony concerts was given Vladimir Horowitz in his Boston debut at the first of this week's concerts of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. After the third pianoforte concerto of Rachmaninoff, in which this new Russian star played the solo part, had been finished, the audience broke into frenzied enthusiasm.

Cheers, stamping of feet, old ladies waving hats and handkerchiefs made the occasion memorable. To those familiar with the notorious coldness of this Friday afternoon audience the size and magnitude of the ovation was even more stunning. In fact, this paradox was more astonishing than anything else to the seasoned reviewer, and caused all other sensations of the program, including the pianist's actual performance, to be dimmed in recollection.

Consequently a just estimate of the newcomer is out of the question now. There is no doubt that he is a talent of the highest rank, nor that he is possessed of stupendous virtuosity. And his rendition of the concerto, which has been played here previously, we believe, only by the composer, was primarily an amazing exhibit of virtuosity. In a little over a half-hour the 24-year-old pianist had won his place among the greatest who have ever appeared in Symphony Hall.

The remainder of the program mattered little after that. Many did not wait to hear three excerpts from Berlioz's "Damnation of Faust" played by the orchestra. Most of the listeners promptly forgot the performance of Daniel Gregory Mason's well-constructed C-Minor symphony, even though it had been heard for the first time, and the composer had been called to the stage by the audience.

And the curious Vivaldi "Summer" concerto for string orchestra, piano and organ was also passed over. It was not a program of great music. Rather, it was the occasion of probably the most notable debut in the history of the Symphony Concerts, a signal for rejoicing in the presence of a new genius.

FILM PEERS STOOP TO RE-CONQUER

By LEO GAFFNEY

WHEN a motion picture player has attained the eminence of a Gloria Swanson or a Milton Sills, he or she may expect to be described as an Outstanding Figure of the films—which is either a label to be sought or a libel to be shunned, according to taste. Mr. Sills has distinguished himself as president of this and spokesman of that organization in the trade. He has persistently and eloquently served the best interests and has espoused the highest causes, ladies and gentlemen, of this "great big baby industry which is daily bringing entertainment and enlightenment to the entire civilized world." (Loud applause.)

* * *

AND Miss Swanson. Of all the film ladies who have acquired European husbands, only Gloria may own the distinction of having formed what Betty Alden would call an Old World Alliance. As the Madame Marquise de la Falaise de la Coudray she MUST be an Outstanding Figure. There is no escaping it.

* * *

BUT, strangely enough, neither Miss Swanson nor Mr. Sills has contributed a worthwhile portrait to the cinema's art gallery for some time. Ever since "The Sea Hawk" the Sills characters have been a monotonous succession of dime novel heroes. Miss Swanson's artistic predicament is even more acute. She has been always on the verge of making a great picture, but has never actually put it across.

* * *

IN a new production apiece these two Outstanding Figures will each make a bid on local screens next week to redeem a few lost opportunities and a train of bad motion pictures. At the two Olympias Milton Sills will frown his way through Jack London's Klondike thriller, "Burning Daylight." At Loew's State Gloria Swanson will do a Jeanne Eagels (if she can) and wrestle with the perplexities of "Sadie Thompson."

* * *

"THE LOVE OF SUNYA" was one of the Swanson almost-good pictures. In it she had a moment here and there of flashing brilliance. Her best was in the Parisian scenes. In one of these, Sunya got good and plastered and spat scorn and defiance with the ardor of an alley cat cornered by a mastiff. In that grand minute she was an actress. "Sadie Thompson" ought to afford many such situations.

* * *

MILTON SILLS' opportunities are similarly widened with "Burning Daylight." If he must continue the winning-the-game-and-winning-the-girl type of stuff, then here is something he can get his teeth into. To get it over he must put real beef juice into the character, the kind that Jack London endowed it with; he must be one of those "real ra'rin' to go galoots that aims to die in his high tan boots." However, win, lose or draw, it should be borne in mind that Mr. Sills makes a darn fine speech.

SHOPPING IN HOLLYWOOD

A shopping tour in Hollywood plunged Barbara Kent into motion picture fame and presented her with the feminine lead opposite Reginald Denny in "That's My Daddy," new film at the Keith-Albee Boston.

Barbara Kent

It happened nearly two years ago, Barbara had just graduated from Hollywood high school. She entered a contest, was chosen as "Miss Hollywood."

She did not try to enter motion pictures, incredible though that may seem. But she went on a fateful shopping tour and was seen by a Universal executive who invited her to the studio to take a screen test.

Making allowances for her inexperience the test was a tremendous success and Miss Kent was immediately placed under contract. It is singular tribute to someone's ability to recognize undeveloped talent that Miss Kent made good.

Disclosing the Skeleton Grinning in the Closet

Humphrey Bogart has been confronted by the skeleton in his closet, and his local friends, who are coming to see him in "Saturday's Children," at the Plymouth, are having fun parading the spectral visitor. Mr. Bogart was once business manager of a play that failed. When he left college with some little experience as an amateur actor behind him he sought William A. Brady and asked for a part. With characteristic stubborness, Mr. Brady made him company manager for "The Ruined Lady."

Humphrey Bogart

But young Mr. Bogart had other aims. He studied the role played by Neil Hamilton and waited until Mr Hamilton took sick, by chance. He read the lines to his boss, was put in the part, rehearsed it, and never played it because Miss George, the star, was herself taken ill and the company closed.

RAVEL FAREWELL

Before he returns to his own country at the expiration of his visit to America, Maurice Ravel will come to Boston to appear as pianist in a recital entirely of his own music, in Symphony Hall, on Monday evening, April 2.

FILM FARE FOR NEW WEEK

The cast includes Noah Beery, Gilbert Roland and Harry Myers. Roland West directed. A United Artists' picture. Also vaudeville.

* * *

FENWAY—(Starting today) Emil Jannings in "The Last Command." Also Louise Fazenda and Clyde Cook in "A Sailor's Sweetheart."

Starting Wednesday, Esther Ralston in "Love and Learn." Also star cast in "Wild Geese."

Personal Matters With a Jazz King

By GEORGE OLSEN

With "Good News" at the Majestic

I am a product of the West—that area which once was great open spaces, but which is now cluttered up with jazz bands and flivvers. To be specific, I was born in Portland Ore. My father ran a trucking business, mostly moving pianos. I did not want to learn to move pianos, so I learned to play 'em.

My dad, being a he-man, didn't want his son to become muscle-bound playing musical instruments—he was hoping I would become a great piano mover—so he packed me off to the University of Michigan. But I turned out to be a better piano thumper and violin player.

Organized my band. It was great. Got many offers to play outside. As the offers meant coin, we accepted. We quit college cold and went after the coin. Played all over the West. Ziegfeld heard of us. Invited us to join one of his shows. We did. Doing fine until he became stricken with economy. We were fired. But we were so good he took us back.

By that time I was a regular jazz band leader. Then I took my band to the Pennsylvania Hotel and put it on the air. That "made" the band and its leader. Many offers then to go in shows. When they wrote a part for me in "Good News" I fell for it and have been an actor ever since. Not much of a one, but still—what do they want for $4584.72 a week!

In Consideration of the Flapper

By JUDITH ANDERSON

Star of "Behold the Bridegroom" at the Shubert

The type of girl symbolized by Antoinette Lyle in our play is universal.

The flapper in the United States has her prototype in Australia. Sometime ago someone coined a name for the flapper's big sister. I think it was "zipper." They, too, exist in both continents. Rich and unrestrained, they dash through a youth full of pleasure only to approach their thirties blasé and disillusioned and a trifle shop-worn.

I believe the character of Antoinette Lyle is symbolic and therefore hopeful. She is a post war youth whose machinery has run down. Suddenly she takes stock of herself and finds that she is wanting. Losing her will to live, she pines away sadly. With the modern American and Australian girl, death fortunately is not blurring the horizon. She has a resilience that can carry her over the depression.

Antoinette as a dramatic figure cannot come back. But the fact that her death was due to psychological inanition proves that had she lived she might have made a worthy, useful happy and happiness-dispensing woman. The flappers and the zippers all over the world who have twisted life dry are coming to a new realization of values. Being real living beings they can remedy the faults they have committed.

I have had many young girls come back stage to meet us. Invariably they tell me that "Behold, the Bridegroom," has a salutary effect upon them. Which proves to me two things. One is that the play is not propaganda. The other is that they haven't lived as rapidly as they might make us believe, or they would not retain their sense of superiority towards Antoinette who, as some of them put it, "went just a little bit too far."

FILM STARS TO BE HEARD ON RADIO

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

LOS ANGELES, March 17—Forty million people are going to be glad they own a radio on March 28. Those who haven't a radio can borrow the neighbor's for a chance of a lifetime being offered them by Joseph Schenck, who has arranged a United Artists hour.

There will be no stuttering speeches of "I am so glad to be here—" lisped into an inoffensive microphone. The stars will really do and say something. Douglas Fairbanks officiates as toastmaster and also plans to give a talk on athletics. Charlie Chaplin will recite a series of humorous anecdotes in various dialects.

D. W. Griffith's speech is based on love and marriage. John Barrymore will give the colloquy from "Hamlet" with special music accompaniment; Norma Talmadge's portion is a talk on "The New World Style Center." Dolores Del Rio makes her debut as a singer with cello and violin accompaniment.

Dodge Brothers will release this entertainment over the National Broadcasting Company's chain from the hours of 6 to 7 p. m., Pacific Standard time. So tune in.

DOUGLAS Fairbanks paused from his imitation golf lawn to tell me his plans for filming the sequel to "The Three Musketeers." You can always depend upon Douglas to offer something new, but this wins our annual prize for originality. Doug has rounded up all the players who were in the original "The Three Musketeers" cast and handed them all their old roles back.

Marguerite de la Motte, who played the girl d'Artagnan loves, will again be Doug's leading lady. George Siegman, an admirable Porthos, will do to repeat, so will Leon Barry as Athos and Eugene Paulette as Aramis.

There is only one difficulty. In the years that have elapsed since Doug brought Dumas' famous "Artagnan" to the screen, Eugene Paulette has gathered considerable avoirdupois. Of course, this sequel to "Three Musketeers," happens later and we all know, alas that are makes weight. But—just in case Paulette should want to reduce, we recommend a week with Douglas Fairbanks and his strenuous athletics.

SAM TAYLOR will direct and Jack Cunningham is writing the scenario based on Fairbanks' idea. Everything is ready but the title. I nearly forgot to say Nigel de Brulier, who was such a stunning Richelieu, is also returning to the Fairbanks' fold.

Jesse Lasky, in a betting mood, said he would wager any producer in Hollywood that "Able's Irish Rose" will break all records. "It is a good picture," he said. "So I hear," I told him. "But I mean it's a really good picture," he emphasized. "You mean a knockout," I suggested.

"That's the word. I think so highly of that picture and of Nancy Carroll's work that she is going to be a Famous Player Lasky star," he continued. But before this red-headed child, who seems to have delighted everyone who has seen "Able's Irish Rose," reaches the coveted stardom, she will be featured in "The Water Hole," a Zane Grey Western, starring Jack Holt. I have always said, and I still say, Westerns are good training for any girl who contemplates stardom.

Smart Ruse Brings Frieda Inescort to the Stage

Frieda Inescort, who plays The Shingled Lady in Winthrop Ames' production of John Galsworthy's "Escape," coming to the Plymouth, was in business before she went on the stage, and until last spring was publicity manager for a publisher.

Frieda Inescort

The daughter of Elaine Inescort, a well-known English actress, who appeared in New York in Winthrop Ames' production of "Snow White," she was born in Edinburgh.

It occurred to her one day that she might vary the monotony of her editorial job by acting. She called Winthrop Ames on the telephone. He made an appointment with her and engaged her for A. A. Milne's "The Truth About Blayds," in which Leslie Howard, also in "Escape," appeared. She confesses that she lied to Ames that she had understudied her mother, and had at one time actually played her mother's part.

SCHMIDT

If ever you doubted that lassies love the sailor, take an evening off with "Hit the Deck" at the Tremont and be downright sorry you are not an Uncle Sam gob. In this case the jolly tars not only have a sweetheart in every port, but the lovely ladies have boy friends on all sides.

FAMOUS SCENES

A cross-section of two famous provincial English streets of the early nineteenth century were constructed at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios as a setting for Marion Davies' new starring picture, "Quality Street," adapted from Sir James M. Barrie's noted play.

Koussevitzky and Chorus to Present "King David"

"King David," the symphonic psalm of Arthur Honegger which is considered as one of the most important works of this contemporary French composer, will have its first Boston presentation at the Spring Pension Fund Concert of the Boston Symphony orchestra, to be given in Symphony Hall on Sunday afternoon, April 1.

Serge Koussevitzky will then preside over the full orchestra which will join forces with the Harvard Glee Club and the Radcliffe Choral Society. The soloists will include Ethyl Hayden, soprano; Tudor Davies, tenor, and Paul Leyssac, who will take the part of the narrator.

LON CHANEY!

Someone in a facetious moment suggested that Warner Brothers could economize on "Noah's Ark" by engaging Lon Chaney to play the characters, including Noah and the animals. But this idea came too late. Noah Beery and Louise Fazenda have been added to the cast which already boasts of Dolores Costello.

VARIETY AND PICTURES

BOWDOIN SQUARE—John Gilbert and Jeanne Eagels in "Man, Woman and Sin"; circus attractions, and other features.

WALDRON'S CASINO—(Burlesque) Lid Lifters revue. Also pictures and vaudeville.

EDISON STOCK HITS ON HIGH

The report due from the Public Utilities Department is the result of an order introduced in the House by Representative Shattuck, who wanted to know why there could not be a general reduction in electric rates, including rates of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston.

If there has been a leak, it was said, and if this leak is the cause of the present rise in Edison shares, the report must be distinctly favorable.

It was recalled that when the department was about to report on the Boston Elevated revaluation, Elevated stock soared. State street also has a rumor that the rise may be based on the possibility of Edison operating the Elevated.

New York Central Leads Advances to New Highs

New York, March 17 (AP)—Speculation for the advance continued unabated on the New York Stock Exchange today with rails superseding industrials as leaders. Price records fell in quick succession as pools, aided by short covering and a large influx of outside buying, marked up stocks in all sections of the list.

New York Central advanced to within 25 cents a share of the record high for all time of $174.50, established in 1901. Reading advanced $2 a share to $107, a price not heretofore reached since 1907. Northern Pacific, Great Northern preferred, Southern Railway, Jersey Central, Pennsylvania and St. Louis Southwestern sold at their best prices for 1928, or longer.

The tickers wokred 40 minutes overtime in recording dealings.

GIRL IN AUTO TEST HITS CAR; AGED MAN HURT

It hasn't been officially disclosed whether Lillian Leven of Elm Hill ave., Roxbury, got her automobile license but it certainly is known that she had a tough time trying for it today on Commonwealth ave.

Under the eagle eye of Motor Vehicle Inspector Richard P. Hegarty, the Roxbury applicant was about to finish her test at the Allston station when she collided with an inbound machine driven by Ward Schoenfield of Newton Center at the corner of Commonwealth ave. and St. Paul st. Schoenfield's father, Henry, 75 years old, a passenger, was badly shaken by the crash and the machine damaged. He was taken to his home.

U. S. SENATOR FERRIS BATTLES PNEUMONIA

Washington, March 17 (AP)—Senator Ferris of Michigan was said by members of his family today to be a "very sick man with a fighting chance of recovery."

The senator, who is 75 years old, had been confined to his room for a week with a severe cold which has developed into pneumonia.

Mrs. Ferris said the Senator had a "very bad night" and that a number of physicians had been in attendance this morning. The Senator recently announced that on account of his age he would not run again

Princess' Husband Leaves

Brussels, March 17 (AP)—Alexander Subkoff, young husband of the Princess Victoria of Schaumberg-Lippe, who was recently ordered expelled from Germany, has gone to Antwerp intending to sail for the Belgian Congo.

high the horsepower per running foot rises to 25.28. That means for every mile of such front 135,062 horsepower. Inventive genius has its opportunity in the problem of harnessing the power commercially.

It is estimated that the present average price for power-tide energy going to waste along the shores of this country would be worth sixty billion dollars a year. Power may some day be as cheap as water, almost cheap as air. Men will eventually find a way to harness the ocean's power, as they have already harnessed the power of Niagara.

Horribly savage, worst of all the animals, is an uncivilized man. Zola said: "Every man has within himself a hog asleep." An Eastern description of man is, "part monkey, part tiger."

In Cuba Higinio Govein, by his brutality, drove his wife from her home. She took with her 17 children. Govein followed and, when she refused to return, stabbed her twice with a knife, then as she ran ascreaming pursued her and stabbed her through the heart. He then killed himself and, doubtless, died believing that he had acted "within his marital rights."

LEADERS OF CONGRESS AT WHITE HOUSE BREAKFAST

Washington, March 17 (AP) — President Coolidge entertained at breakfast this morning a group of Republican and Democratic leaders in both houses of Congress.

The guests were Senators Curtis of Kansas, Republican floor leader; Jones of Washington, Watson of Indiana, Shortridge of California; Fess of Ohio, Republicans; and Pittman of Nevada, Robinson of Arkansas, Democrats. The House members invited were Speaker Longworth, Tilson of Connecticut, the Republican floor leader; Madden of Illinois, Hawley of Oregon, Snell of New York, Republicans; Garner of Texas, and Crisp of Georgia, Democrats.

NO DODGING ON DRY ISSUE, SAYS WILLIS

Lancaster, O., March 17 (AP)—With what appeared to be an indirect shot at Herbert Hoover, prohibition was brought to the fore in Ohio's Republican primary campaign here today by Senator Frank B. Willis, who declared in a speech that the voters this year will stand for no dodging on the issue by presidential candidates.

"Campaigns cannot be won by evasion," said the Senator, who is fighting it out with the commerce secretary for Ohio's 51 delegates to the Kansas City convention.

Radio Dialog

REV. VAUGHAN DABNEY, pastor of the Second Church in Dorchester, will be the speaker in tonight's Thoughtful Half Hour broadcast from the Evening American studio of WLOE. Dr. Dabney is one of the leading preachers of Greater Boston, and his talk will be on "Saints and Patriots." A vocal quartet from the Dorchester church will be heard in several numbers during this weekly feature.

Radio amateurs are giving close attention to their receivers in an attempt to win one of the trophy cups offered by William R. Hearst for the person who receives from the greatest distance messages from the huge Stinson-Detroiter now on its way to Los Angeles. The plane took off from Curtiss Field yesterday on the first commercial flight to the Pacific Coast. It is equipped with an elaborate two-way radio telephone equipment operating on a band of 120 metres.

THE Atlantic-to-Pacific plane carries Lieut. George W. Hopkins, pilot; Capt. Gordon Smith of the New York American; R. J. Wall of the Toledo National Safety Committee: J. C. Ingram of the Universal Press; H. C. Leuteritz of the Radio Corporation of America, operator, and W. G. Fisk of the aircraft division of the Radio Corporation of America. The radio equipment was installed by the Radio Corporation, and attempts will be made by various commercial stations to rebroadcast communications from and to the plane on the regular commercial channels.

The program of the People's Symphony Orchestra to be broadcast by WLOE from Jordan Hall tomorrow afternoon, made up largely of the lighter and more brilliant classics. Brahms, Schubert, Mendelssohn and Liszt are the composers whose works are represented. Carmela Ippolito, popular Boston girl violinist, will play a Brahms Concerto. The symphonic work will be Mendelssohn's Italian Symphony. As is customary, Moses Smith, music critic of the Boston Evening American, will give a description of the program a half hour in advance of the concert. The orchestra of 99 men will be directed by William F. Hofmann.

HOW convenient that the Palmolive geniuses of the radio should have discovered a sweet soprano named Olive Palmer. Their luck, or was it imagination, didn't hold out so well when it came to tenors. Their tenor bears the alluring cognomen of Paul Oliver. Between the two, plus orchestra and ensemble, a lively hour of Irish tunes was oscillated into the ozone through WEAF-WEEI et al. Victor Herbert's "Irish Rhapsody" was among the most stirring numbers.

Four Irish poets are expected as guests in the studio of WJZ at 7 o'clock tonight to read from their poems. They are Padraic Colum, Shaemus O'Sheel, James Rorty and Joseph Campbell. The period is devoted to Norman Hamilton's "Read Me a Poem" feature. Poems from the latest works of the authors will be read.

Due to the severe illness of Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heinke, necessitating her cancelling all her concert engagements, her place before the microphone in the Atwater Kent radio hour, heard through the NBC red network tomorrow evening will be taken by Lucrezia Bori, soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company. Mme. Bori was scheduled to appear in the Atwater Kent hour of Sunday evening, Feb. 19. This program will be heard beginning at 9:15 o'clock.

Dr. P. H. Mullowney, deputy health commissioner of Boston, will give a talk on food during Martha Lee's hour at the Evening American studio of WLOE on Monday morning. Commissioner Mullowney, who is in charge of food inspection for the city, will talk on "Things to avoid in purchasing food from a health standpoint." His remarks will be valuable and interesting to housekeepers and all persons who buy or prepare foodstuffs.

You "Wear" Well in Wool
The years are kind to men who wear wool. There is health, comfort and beauty, too, in all-wool clothing. The safest way to select all-wool cloth is to look for the trade mark of the American Woolen Company. It now appears on every yard of all-wool Serge, Cheviot, Unfinished Worsted, Merchants' Gray and a selected variety of stripes in the colors and weaves you like so well for business and general wear.
You can get them from your tailor or clothier.

WHEN PRINCE REMAINS ASTRIDE, SOMEONE MUST BITE THE DUST. At a steeplechase race held at Gloucester, England, the Prince of Wales cleared the barriers and won the race without taking a spill; therefore it remained for Jockey McTigue to take the tumble. It was a high shrub that caused the fall. The horse also turned over. Fortunately McTigue landed on the grass and his fall was not severe. Some of the best horsemen in England took part in this race; among them were members of the famous Welsh regiment.

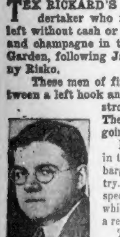
RICKARD AND TUNNEY FOILED IN PLOT TO CLEAN UP MILLION

By JACK CONWAY

TEX RICKARD'S 600 millionaires were as gloomy as an undertaker who finds out that a bereaved widow has been left without cash or insurance as they sipped away at cocktails and champagne in their exclusive quarters at Madison Square Garden, following Jack Sharkey's defeat at the hands of Johnny Risko.

These men of finance, who do not know the difference between a left hook and a right cross, were heavy of heart and strong of tongue as they discussed the bout. They saw a million dollars in expected profits going up in smoke.



Jack Conway

Millionaires were not interested in boxing in the days when the title fights were held on barges, in lofts or in isolated spots in the country. There were then no great receipts. The spectators made up a purse for the boxers, while the promoters got their thrill by seeing a real fight.

The 600 galloping millionaires began to show interest in the fight game as the gate receipts increased The $1,800,000 gate at the Dempsey-Tunney bout at Philadelphia, the $1,000,000 crowd at the Dempsey-Sharkey mill in new York and the $2,600,000 gate at the Dempsey-Tunney bout in Chicago made the millionaires forget the ramifications of the stock market for what they once called the sordid prize fight racket.

Rickard was wrapped up in gloom as he walked in on his band of millionaires. He didn't even try to have a batting average of .500 in the use of the King's English as he made known his disappointment.

"Risko won, but he's more of a washwoman than a fighter," sighed Tex. "I may be able to talk the public into believing he's a good fighter, but it will be a tough job.

Rickard Wanted Sharkey to Win

"I wanted Sharkey to win this time, but he failed me. I wasn't so hot for him to beat Dempsey last year as I was with the old Tiger heart and soul, but I figured that of the heavyweight contenders now around Sharkey has the most color."

"The boy will be all right after he has had two more fights," interrupted Bill Muldoon, who has always been a Sharkey booster. "He looked better against Risko than he did against Heeney. Money and easy living have softened him up. Hungry fighters make the best fighters. Now that he has been beaten, Sharkey may settle down and prove he is the great fighter I have always believed him to be."

"Whatinel will that get me this year?" demanded Rickard. "Tunney wants to fight in June. It looks as though I'll have to fight him myself."

"Why not get Dempsey to fight Tooney," suggested a bald headed millionaire.

"You gentlemen don't understand that Dempsey doesn't want to fight any more," replied Rickard as if addressing a board of directors.

"But he'll get half a million dollars," said the gentlemen of wealth who figured that money can solve any problem.

"Even Dempsey puts his health above wealth," replied Rickard. "His eyes are gone. How can a fighter fight if he cannot see?"

"But half a million dollars is half a million dollars," went on the millionaire as he sipped away at his champagne.

"Then why don't you make the match yourself?" snapped Rickard as he gave vent to his inner feelings.

"Wait until you meet Mr. Tooney at Miami next week," said a New York sports writer. "He will knock you over with one of his five syllable words when you tell him you have failed to get a suitable opponent for the champion."

"Tunney," snarled Tex. "That man gives me more headaches than anybody with whom I have ever done business. One would think he had done something for me to hear him talk.

"I picked Tunney up."

"You mean Tooney," interrupted the newspaperman.

"I sed Tunney," went on Tex in his best Alaskan English. "I picked Tunney up when nobody thought he could lick any heavyweight. Harry Wills was then the chief contender for the title. I talked Tunney until I put him into the ring with Dempsey at Philadelphia.

Tells How Tunney Stuck Him Up

"The day before the match he called me on the 'phone from Stroudsburg and told me that unless I increased the amount of his purse that he would walk out on me.

"'Dempsey is drawing the big gate,' I told him.

"'You're mistaken,' he replied. "Tooney and the marines are putting the money into the house. Honest, I only sold 25 tickets to the marins. I wish I didn't have to talk business with Tunney."

Rickard openly admits that Tunney is the boss of his own destiny Billy Gibson is manager in name only.

Gibson, a ring strategist, was largely responsible in getting Tunney his shot at the title. Rickard claims this credit, but he isn't entitled to it. Gibson made a special trip to California and convinced Dempsey that Tunney was just a mug and that he could tip him over quickly and by taking the match avoid Wills. Dempsey was sold on this idea and ordered Rickard to build Tunney up.

Dempsey felt he would knock Tunney out in a round. I was with Floyd Fitzsimmons, Dempsey's intimate pal, the night before the Dempsey-Tunney bout in Philadelphia.

"The fight will be over inside of half a minute," said Floyd. "Tunney is a bum. Dempsey will only have to hit him a couple of times to knock him dead."

When Tunney won the title he put on the high hat and wanted to ditch Gibson. But he didn't dare to do this for fear of being belted on the chin by public opinion. So he slashed Gibson's end of his purse from 33⅓ per cent to a flat guarantee of $100,000 every time he defends his championship.

At Chicago Tunney received almost a million dollars which gave Gibson about 10 per cent of the total receipts.

It is understood that Bill McCabe, Tunney's adviser, is also cut in for 10 per cent of the champion's dough.

Gibson hasn't much use for Tunney socially. Billy still hangs with the mob around the Roaring Forties, while Gene likes the social contracts of Parke ave. and Miami.

Gibson does not admire many of Tunney's personal traits, but he worships him as a fighter

"Tunney has his faults," Gibson once told me, "but he will fight. He will step into a cage with a lion if given enough dough. I don't think Gene knows the meaning of the word fear"

He made this statement after Sharkey knocked out Maloney last year and Dempsey announced he was coming back Gibson wanted Johnny Buckley to hold Sharkey out for Tunney and to give Dempsey the air

Feared Being Jobbed at Chicago

"We don't need Dempsey," said Gibson. "I was sitting with Rickard when Sharkey knocked Maloney out Tex jumped to his feet and yelled from sheer joy. 'There's the greatest card I've got,' shouted Rickard. Tunney and Sharkey will draw capacity. Even if he knocks out Dempsey with a punch he won't be a better card than he now is. If he fights Dempsey the bout may not have a decisive ending and there won't be an opponent for Tunney.

"Tunney don't care whom he fights as long as he is sure of a shot at the big money. Gene must also fight if I am to get any sugar this year."

Buckley told Gibson that Sharkey wanted to fight Dempsey first, as he felt he could lick him and then take on Tunney.

For a time it looked as though Tunney was going to be jobbed in Chicago. A Chicago newspaper man, friendly to Jack Kearns, then caused a switch in the officials from the title bout which resulted in Dave Barry being named as referee. Barry gave Tunney the long count which deprived Dempsey of the chance to regain his title.

Kearns wasn't even in Chicago to see the fight. But it was his friendship for this particular newspaper man which prevented Dempsey from having a referee in the ring who would favor him, as Johnny Gallagher did in his bout with Firpo and Jack O'Sullivan in his tussle with Sharkey.

Firpo knocked Dempsey out of the ring, but Gallagher didn't start counting. He gave the old Tiger an opportunity to get back into the ring.

Risko Won't Get Title Bout

Johnny Risko, despite his victory over Sharkey, isn't going anywhere. Tunney won't fight him. The champion has already expressed his preference for Tom Heeney, New Zealand heavyweight.

I'll tell you the reason. Risko and Tunney fought in Cleveland three years ago. The champion got the decision, but didn't look any too good Risko, a sort of ring clown who keeps his arms flying regardless of whether he scores or not, gave Tunney plenty of trouble. Gene busted both hands trying to knock Risko out. He was also wrestled to the floor on one occasion.

Tunney knows that if he fights Risko that the latter will be the underdog and that the crowd will be with the Cleveland baker boy. He realizes that one would need a sledge hammer to knock Johnny out. He can visualize Risko carrying the fight to him for 15 rounds. He figures he will hit Risko with a million or so punches, but that Johnny will always come back for more with arms flying.

The crowd likes an aggressive fighter, especially if he is the underdog, even when he isn't scoring. It gives him credit for trying which was the case in the Sharkey-Risko bout.

Tunney fears he might find himself in the same position at the end of 15 rounds that Sharkey did in his recent engagement with Risko. The roar of the crowd and the doggedness of Risko might tip Tunney from his throne.

So Gene of the five syllable words has made known his preference for Heeney.

GENE RILED AT DEMPSEY

Public opinion may force a Heeney-Risko bout, but that's not a certainty. Champions don't care much for public opinion.

Tunney would also like to prove he can draw a million dollars with anybody. He is tired of listening to Rickard tell of the great drawing powers of Dempsey. Gene figures he drew most of the gate at Chicago. I agree with him on this statement.

I went to Chicago figuring the town would be red hot for Dempsey and that everybody would be doing a job on Tunney, as was the case in the East, particularly in New York, Tunney's home town.

Instead I found the West friendly to Tunney. It gave him a wild ovation when he entered the ring, while Dempsey got only a fair hand. Not a single voice took exception to the decision in favor of Tunney.

The result of the elimination at least proved boxing is honest Sharkey, Delaney and Paulino started as the most colorful of the contenders. Any member of this trio, if kept winning, would have ended Rickard's worries by drawing a million dollar gate with Tunney.

Instead Sharkey only got a draw with Heeney and dropped the decision to Risko.

Delaney lost a close verdict to Heeney.

Paulino was beaten by Godfrey.

This leaves Risko, Heeney and Godfrey.

Rickard considers Risko and Heeney colorless.

"Just a couple of rugged hack drivers," is the way one of Tex' assistants put it.

And Tex does not want Godfrey. He says Jack Johnson and Harry Wills cured him of negro heavyweights.

"I'm giving Godfrey the silence treatment," Rickard told me the other day. "I'm glad I didn't try to take the Paulino-Godfrey match away from Jack Doyle on the Coast. With Godfrey winning, I'd have had him on my hands and wouldn't have known how to get rid of him."

So Rickard will have to stick to his "rugged hack drivers." He can at least show the boxing game is honest and that he didn't try to put the tournament "in the bag" for a colorful fighter like Sharkey, Delaney or Paulino.

Tex tells me he can get out with his skin if a title bout draws $684,000. This would enable him to pay Tunney's guarantee, which is $500,000 and not the $1,000,000 as generally reported, pay the challenger $102,600, which would be 15 per cent of the gate, hand over $68,400 as the 10 per cent cut for rent of a ball park, and then pay off his preliminary battlrse and other incidental expenses with the remaining $13,000.

But there would not be any profit.

Neither Rickard nor his 600 millionaires care to stage a bout under such conditions.

Tex will try to talk Tunney out of insisting on a June match and get him to wait until September for a championship shot. Maybe by that time Dempsey will cast aside his spectacles and comb back his whiskers and step forth in battle array.

In the event the old Tiger insists upon sticking to his racing horses and the social life of Hollywood, it is possible that some heavyweight scrap may furnish a sensational winner whom the public will accept as a real challenger for the title.

KING SOLOMON ERNIE SCHAAF

KING SOLOMON IS SUPPOSED TO BE A WISE MAN

But when he consented to fight Ernie Schaaf, the racy looking navy cruiser, at the Arena next Monday night he invited trouble for himself. These heavies are in the final of a very fine fighting show.

SCHAAF PACKS PUNCH TO GET TO TOP

There have been a number of sailors who have made good in the ring, but none of them has been more popular with the rank and file of the enlisted men of the navy than Ernie Schaaf, who is to box King Solomon at the Arena Monday night

Among the fist-throwers who have made important metal after their hitch in the United States navy were Jack Sharkey, Dick Honey Boy Finnegan, Eddie K. O. Roberts and Leo Lomski. Probably the greatest fighter ever sent out of the navy was Tom Sharkey, but he was years and years too soon for the big money.

Now two old navy heavyweight champions have joined the most popular combination that Uncle Sam has ever had. Ernie Schaaf is the fighter and Phil Schlossberg. The two of them are rated with the best the navy has ever produced, as fighters and as men, and the whole fleet is interested in their progress.

It is just possible that Schaaf may make more money than even Sharkey, the leading alumnus of Uncle Sam's hard-boiled school. He has the requisite personality to make him the most popular boxer in the heavyweight ranks. He has the punch to make him the best drawing card. He has the viciousness to make him the greatest heavyweight

It is easy to rave over a promising young heavyweight, so naturally the ravings you hear about Schaaf will be numerous, for he is regarded from coast to coast and by experts everywhere as the finest young heavyweight prospect in the country, the coming heavyweight champion of the world.

Schaaf is finishing up his training at Toland's Gymnasium this afternoon, and the popular King will arrive tonight and train tomorrow afternoon at Kelley & Hayes' Gymnasium.

The preliminary card will be a series of fights. The eight-round semi-final will be a return match between Bob Jasse of Revere and Jimmy Amato White of Boston. In another eight-rounder Larry Creighton of South Boston, who has shown such amazing form in his dozen fights, will attempt to defeat the more experienced, but less popular, Roy Mitchell of Halifax, while the third eight-rounder will bring together Red Griffin of Chelsea and Frank Baldi of Lynn.

In the opening six-rounder Eddie Daley, ex-amateur star from Charlestown, will attempt to continue his sensational string of professional victories when he boxes the busy Frank Herlihy of Lynn.

ARLINGTON IS BIG FAVORITE

Arlington and Chelsea high schools basketball teams, having survived the preliminary and semi-final rounds, will meet in the finals of the Tech tournament for the championship of eastern Massachusetts at the Tech Hangers tonight.

Arlington is favored to win the tourney, for it has played the smartest basketball of the series.

Individually Chelsea seems to be the better team, and it also has a better record. Gloucester defeated Arlington earlier in the season and Chelsea took the "fish town" team in camp last night, 42 to 18. But Chelsea has two glaring faults that may lose the game for them.

40 Bouts Tonight at St. Joe's Show

With indications pointing to a record entry list of 50 boxers and 40 bouts on the card, the weekly amateur boxing tournament of the St. Joseph's T. A. S., which will be staged tonight at Commercial Hall, Bowdoin sq., looms up as one of the most important of the year.

Bouts will be staged in seven classes, including two divisions for novices. In the 126-pound and 160-pound classes, it is expected by William H. Cuddy that a number of newcomers will be on hand for the first time. Many boys have been developed in these weekly novice classes.

All the topnotchers are expected to participate in the bouts in the five open classes comprising 112, 118, 135, 147 and heavyweight, and judging by the entry list the bouts will be among the best of the season.

Heeney Would Like to Meet Dempsey

New York, March 17 (AP)—Tom Heeney, one of the foremost contenders for the heavyweight championship, sailed on the White Star liner Olympic early today for a four-week visit in England. Heeney declared he would press his demands for a title clash with champion Gene Tunney on his return and expressed hope that such a bout would be held in June.

In the event he is unable to secure a match against Tunney, Heeney said he would like to stack up against Jack Dempsey, the former champion, provided the Manassa mauler changes his mind and reenters the ring.

STRIBLING INJURES HAND SCORING K. O

Augusta, Ga., March 16 (AP)—W. L. (Young) Stribling Macon heavyweight, knocked out Pat Joyce, New York, in the first round of a 10-round match last night. Stribling suffered a torn ligament in his left hand from the knockout blow.

Cathedral 'Y' Stages 10-Mile Run April 14

Although still three weeks away entries for the 18th annual 10-mile run of the Cathedral Y. M. C. A. to be held April 14th are being received. This race is well known to all distance plodders as the best and most popular race in New England, with the number of entries reaching well over a hundred each year.

Among the well known entries received already are Dave Kneeland, Jr., winner of last year's Lynn General Electric 10-mile run, George Gould of St. Francis T. A. S. and Elbridge Stevens of the Dorchester club.

Entries will close April 10 with Frank D. Dailey, Cathedral club, 75 Union Park st., Boston, Mass.

England Wins Rugby Title

Twickenham, Eng., March 17 (AP)—England won the jubilee international rugby football match from Scotland today by 6 points to 0.

Of the 50 games played between England and Scotland, England has won 21, Scotland 20, while nine have been drawn.

By winning today England also capteured the international rugby championship for this season from Scotland, Ireland, Wales and France. Ireland was second.

MR. BOSTON

By Jack Conway

MR. BOSTON sported a sprig of Shamrock on the lapel of his coat as he said "hello" to the gang in the sporting department today.

"I can remember when every boxing club in the country would stage a show on March 17 with a card of all-Irish fighters," popped the veteran. "Nowadays there's not one Irish fighter in a ring full.

"I was beginning to think that there were not any more sensational Irish boxers when Jimmy McLarnin stepped into the picture and knocked Sid Terris for a goal.

"McLarnin is Irish from his bright blue eyes to his likeable brogue. He will drag in a half million dollar gate when he faces Sammy Mandell in a bout for the lightweight title in New York on May 17.

"Tunney comes from Irish stock, but he has been parading around with the high hat on so much that it is difficult to class him with regular fellows like John L. Sullivan, Mike O'Dowd and the Sullivan twins of Cambridge.

"Mickey Walker, middleweight boss, is an Irish-American and very popular.

"I JUST took a peek at the fistic offerings for next week. On Monday night, Tom Goodwin of the Suffolk Club has Ernie Schaaf of German ancestry battling King Solomon, a Syrian who for a time was believed to be a Jew.

"On Thursday night, Eddie Mack of the Argonne Club will show Sid Barbarian, an Armenian, against Bruce Flowers, an African negro.

"Irish fighters will have to step on it to regain their former places in the fistic sun. The same goes in baseball where the Kelleys and the Duffys have been pushed aside.

"I asked Johnny Buckley, pilot of Jack Sharkey, why the Irish fighters have deserted the ring.

"'The Irish have got smart,' laughed Buckley. 'They are now the managers. You don't have to take so many punches when you are a manager. A manager can truthfully say, 'He isn't hurting US.'"

Pickpocket Started Mitchell on Career

By FRANK G. MENKE

(Copyright, 1928, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

IF a crook hadn't stolen Charlie Mitchell's wallet in 1879, Charlie, perhaps, would have become a doctor. But the wallet was stolen and a situation developed whereby Mitchell became a puglist and eventually rose to the championship of England and to immortality in fistic realms.

Mitchell's parents were middle-class and wealthy. They had ambitions for Charlie to become a surgeon and he was sent away to a college to begin the studies that were to make him bring true the dreams of his parents.

At that time practically all of the select English schools included a course of athletic training in their curricula. Boxing was among the sportive "studies"; in fact, it was the most popular of them all. Mitchell developed a great fondness for boxing and in a few brief months developed from a novice into perhaps the best collegiate boxer in all England, despite the fact that he weighed well below 150 and was only of medium height.

LATE in the autumn of 1879, when Mitchell was just bordering on his 18th birthday, he was taking advantage of the holiday vacation and planned to go to his home. But as he was going to buy his railroad ticket, his pocket was picked, his wallet stolen — and Charlie was broke.

Mitchell didn't want to wire or write home for money because only a few days before his parents had sent a goodly sum to him with an admonition to be a bit more careful of his money. He reasoned that if he wired for money, explaining that his pocket had been picked, it would sound like a new alibi.

While Mitchell was racking his brains for ways and means to secure money, he heard that an "all-comers" boxing tournament was being staged in Wolverhampton. A prize of $25 was offered to anyone who could knock out a fellow named Smithers, ranked as a fairly good fighter in those days.

Fortunately Mitchell had enough silver in his pocket to buy a ticket to Wolverhampton, only a short distance away.

Mitchell presented himself to those who were conducting the tournament.

"I'll fight this Smithers," he said.

THE promoters readily agreed to pit Mitchell against the huge Smithers, for they figured that Charlie would be easy for him, and they were anxious to have Smithers roll up as long a knockout record as possible. The more foes Smithers disposed of the greater drawing card he would be.

But the diminutive Mitchell spent just 17 minutes rearranging the facial map of Smithers, and then, satisfied with his task, sent him down and out for the count.

Mitchell appeared in that bout—a bare knuckle contest—under an assumed name, but his feat in whipping Smithers excited the newspaper men. They wanted to know all about him. Charlie evaded disclosing his identity and just as he felt he could make a "getaway" he was recognized by one of the fellows who knew him in his boyhood.

"And then the cat was out of the sack," related Mitchell later. "Those boys wrote stories about me and, of course, the papers got back home. There was a jolly row about it, but I ended it by quitting college. I never had wanted to be a doctor, anyway. My success against Smithers had convinced me that I was a fairly good fighter. So I became a professional pugilist—and I never regretted my action."

Boxing at Hut "Y"

A boxing tournament for novices only will be held at the Huntington Avenue Branch, Boston Y. M. C. A., on April 5 There will be four classes: 118-pound, 126-pound, 135 pound and 147-pound. All entries should be sent to Frank Alexander. Members of the Y. M. C. A. are eligible for entrance.

SID BARBERIAN SHOWS ACTION

Sid Barberian, Detroit lightweight, fistiana's child of fate inasmuch as he defeated two former champion of Italy, victor in six out a prank of Lady Luck was robbed of the fame and fortune that accompanies the triumph of a titleholder, will be welcomed back to the Hub next Thursday night for a ten-round battle with Bruce Flowers, little coffee-colored contender for the crown at Mechanics Building, under the direction of Promoter Eddie Mack of the Argonne A. A.

Yet, instead of crying over the ill-luck which twice robbed him of the championship, this tireless punching son of Armenia continues to wage an uphill struggle in hopes of someday getting another fling at the crown.

Nando Tassi, light heavyweight champion of Italy, victor in six out of seven starts in this country will clash with Ted Sandwina of Germany in a 10-rounder, which should be on a par with the wind-up. Tassi by his brilliant showing against Jake Warren here recently is greeted by Italian fans as a sure coming champion. Sandwina easily won over Larry Creighton in his last start here.

The four-rounders loom up as an attractive feature in themselves. Jimmy Madden of Roxbury returns to the ring to swap wallops with Eddie Callahan of Arlington in a bout which should provide plenty of thrills. Mickey Connolly of Ireland and Al Beauregard of New Haven, who recently put up such a fierce fight will stage a return match.

-Owen Flynn, South Boston, meets Paul Wearhine, Jack Twin Sullivan's latest product while Eddie Foster, New Rochelle, Flowers' training partner meets Johnny Carleton of Harvard and Murry Fuchs, New York clashes with Joe Minerva of the South End. Tickets for the bout may be procured at 61 Court street.

OPEN TANK MEET AT WORCESTER "Y" TONIGHT

Worcester, March 17—The open meet of the Worcester Y. M. C. A. for men and women will be held here tonight in the Y. M. C. A. tank. All the leading swimmers of this section will take part in the met.

Albina Osipowich and Delna Carlstrom will be among the performers which the fans will watch closely. Besides the special events there will be novice attractions for the boys and girls to stimulate interest in swimming.

HUGHIE DEVLIN SCORES VICTORY OVER SANTELLO

Worcester, March 17 (AP)—Hughie Devlin, 115¼, of New Bedford, clearly outpointed Tony Santello, 117¾, of Worcester in the eight-round final bout here tonight. Devlin won five rounds by a wide margin.

Leroy Carley of Worcester knocked out Henry Allaire, also of Worcester, in the third round of the semi-final. They are welterweights.

BRAVES AND YANKEES REST

World's Champs Have Scored Only One Run in Two Games With Tribe

By NICK FLATLEY

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 17—The Braves and the Yankees hostilities this afternoon were postponed on account of rain. The Tribe concluded a very successful week of Florida practice. The Yanks will start hitting, in the natural course of events, very shortly and some afternoon or other they will bury the Braves.

But the fact remains that they have been able to score but one run in two games thus far and that makes the week a [illegible] for the [illegible] with [illegible] considering that the [illegible] who [illegible] were held scoreless for nine innings by the Wigwam flingers while the Cards [illegible] the ball [illegible] just one run in a [illegible] game.

The boys were tendered [illegible] and just put on their own to keep [illegible] [illegible] experience of many years has taught your correspondent to know that southern baseball does not mean a thing [illegible] a spirit of desire and fight [illegible] the club now that all the visiting managers sense.

The word has been passed around the National League that the Braves are dangerous and the first division clubs are not counting those games won which are scheduled in Boston, or have the pastimes listed for the Braves at foreign ball parks.

The Braves' pitching has made a [illegible] impression on two such shrewd men as Clark Griffith of Washington and Miller Huggins of New York. Both of them declare that the Boston sharpshooters have been wonders in practice games, and [illegible] Manager Slattery must have quite a system to get such effective results in so short a time.

Frank Marlow Says Dempsey Will Fight

Jack Dempsey will fight again, according to Frank Marlow, famous New York sportsman and night club owner, who is in Boston. Marlow is in a position to know Dempsey's plans, as he associated in business with Billy Duffy, Dempsey's chief second in his bouts with Jack Sharkey and Gene Tunney last year.

Marlow has come to Boston in an effort to sign Dolores Farras, latest musical comedy sensation, to a big New York theatrical contract. Miss Farras is the leading lady in "Good News" which opens here next Monday night.

Carrigan Orders Batting Practice

By JOE CASHMAN

Bradenton, Fla., March 17—Dr. Carrigan's latest prescription for the health and prosperity for his Red Sox patients calls for batting practice, more batting and, then some more batting practice, especially for the veterans.

He had believed that all of his charges were progressing pretty well with the stick but the showing of the first stringers against Brooklyn proved to him that he was mistaken and caused him to immediately prescribe a prolonged session of hitting every day.

Today's game with Philadelphia will see the [illegible] performing with Carrigan following their work very closely.

If any of the youngsters shows well with the stick and holds his own in the field, a few changes in the regular [illegible] for the big games next week [illegible] to make the [illegible] realize that they must keep plugging to stay on the job.

The one bright feature of the game with the Dodgers was the hurling of big Ed Morris, who worked the first five innings, two more than any other Sox [illegible] has gone to date.

Though he allowed four runs, his performance was excellent. He ought to win a lot of games for the Sox this season. Not one earned run was made off his delivery during the first three innings. Then after Al Tyson had pinched one of his fast ones for a home run with two on in the fourth, he showed his nerve by coming back and pitching another scoreless frame.

The fact he was allowed to work as long as he did indicates that Carrigan has decided the [illegible] to get a line on all his pitchers [illegible] letting them go beyond the three inning limit which was the rule up to yesterday.

He will give each of his hurlers

[illegible] of [illegible] next [illegible] [illegible] a chance in the next seven days in the hope that those who he is almost certain haven't a chance will prove [illegible] mistaken.

Medal Play True Golf Test—Mrs. Horn

By MIRIAM BURNS HORN
Women's National Golf Champion

EVERYONE knows that golf and the rules governing it developed from The Royal and Ancient Order of something or other, over there some two thousand miles across the Atlantic, but what it will be some hundred years hence, no one can say.

Just as Edison and Ford have a way all their own, of [illegible] our means of living and transportation, so some [illegible] individual will change this game of golf until we will [illegible]

[illegible] dictions, but we (no, not we, for we may be dead) but they may be driving so far that vehicles, skates, or wings may seem profitable between [illegible] however, that it will remain, as it [illegible] camouflaged with the next generation.

[illegible] which is changing, but the ability of the players. Things have developed to the point where 18 holes is not a test of the better player, and the tournament winner is often not the most outstanding in the field. In [illegible] medal play [illegible] test of golf.

A single round match is not fair [illegible]

There is not the satisfaction of having a bad hole, being able to pick up, concede it to the opponent, and go on, with no worry whatever. In medal play, unfortunately every stroke is there to stay.

A person may have one or several weak spots in his game [illegible] only the loss of [illegible] but I dare say one cannot play [illegible] or 72 holes [illegible] most of the defects.

Medal play is a test of nerve as well as skill. Notice the women's [illegible] amazingly [illegible] Personally I [illegible] the field.

The men's most important event is the National Open which, of [illegible] the time when we women would [illegible] a medal as well as a match tournament [illegible] would be considered the highest honor.

The winner would not be regarded as the one who happened to be in form that week. The entire field would still be there, fighting to the last for top place.

There would be no process of elimination, and poor golf in the finals would no doubt spell disaster.

'Hug' Proud of His Yanks; Denies They Won Pennant

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 17 (AP)—Three straight setbacks for the world champion Yankees fail to disturb Manager Miller Huggins, who does not take the exhibitions in the "bushes" as indicators of what will happen when the season starts.

When Huggins left the ball park after the Yanks had taken a trimming from the Cards yesterday, a fan accosted him.

"Is them the Yanks that won the World Series?" the manager was asked.

"Nope," replied Hug.

"Didn't the Yankees win the World Series?"

"Yep, but this isn't the same team. But it'll be the same soon. We'll begin winning games after the bell rings."

TECH GYMNASTS COMPETE AT WEST POINT TODAY

Technology gymnasts will compete at West Point tonight in a triangular meet between Princeton, M. I. T. and Army. This will mark the Engineers' second triangular affair of the season and its last meet before the intercollegiates which will be held in the Tech gym a week from tonight.

A close meet is expected today between Tech and Army. From the comparative standpoint with Princeton's defeat of the Army by a score of 39 to 15, Navy also beat Penn by a 37 to 17 score. As both Princeton and Navy won over the Engineers by practically the same score, the meet is sure to be a close one.

B. U. COACH EXPECTS "RED" MURPHY NEXT WEEK

"Red" Murphy, B. U. freshman candidate for a varsity pitching berth, may be able to resume practice next week. He wrenched his arm the early part of the week attempting to throw a book.

Murphy is a promising candidate and he may make the grade. The Terriers are very weak in the box, and Coach Gaw will take any likely prospect. "Red" is the only newcomer that has impressed Gaw to date.

Today Is Anniversary of Death of St. Patrick

St. Patrick, according to some authorities, died March 17, 493 A. D., at the age of 121.

The story and life of St. Patrick appeal not only to the people of Ireland, but to all who love the tales of heroic adventure, and especially Christian adventure.

Although there have been numerous myths connected with this saint, enough is authentic and real to stir the mind and soul. On one side of the account are stories of the departure of all snakes from Ireland at the command of St Patrick, of earthquakes that swallowed up enemies, and of other miracles which helped to give the saint power and prestige.

On the other side is the account of a young man full of religious zeal, returning to a land where he had suffered as a slave, and there devoting his best years to converting a barbarous people to his faith. He found the Druids worshipping gods and spirits embodied in trees, and he taught a religion of a God incarnated in a man. He replaced such ideals of barbaric life as were exemplified by the pirate band that stole him from his home in Briton, for the philosophy of the Christ, the Golden Rule and the passionate love of the Christian religion.

He was notably brave, and set an example for many future missionaries who have faced dangers and difficulties among savagry. He established an ideal and example for the people of Ireland, and gave to the world a romantic and heroic figure to be admired as a great pioneer in those early and crude times.

MINISTERS EASY PREY FOR SHARKS

The Federal Council Service, March 10 issue, has printed an article to put the good natured clergy on guard.

The minister who has escaped being swindled in the course of his professional career is an exception, according to a study just completed by the Chicago Theological Seminary. There are even indications, the survey shows, of the existence of a clearing house for the dissemination of information as an aid to the swindler's "sales-talk," for the exchange of the lists of "victims" and other methods of separating the minister from his meager earnings. Another conclusion drawn from the survey is that the city minister suffers far more at the hands of the swindler than does the rural pastor.

The survey was initiated by Robert Cashman, business manager of the seminary, who sought to determine definitely the kinds of swindles with which ministers had experience and the information is to be used for the guidance of the divinity students. The questionnaire submitted was answered by 250 clergymen in 24 states.

Swindles fell into three classes Mr. Cashman found:

(1) Oil and mining stocks, dubious real estate deals, rabbit and chicken farms. (2) Fake church directories, spurious magazine and book subscriptions, worthless correspondence courses, advertising schemes. (3) "Temporary loans" and worthless checks.

Officers of the seminary have drawn up a list of suggestions for pastors, including the following "Make a thorough investigation of the tale told by the suspected swindler. Check this later with his earlier statements. Build a reputation for investigating. Send the applicant for aid to the proper charitable organization. Consult a lawyer on important business dealings. Study people."

Why We Behave Like Human Beings

by DR. GEORGE A. DORSEY, Ph.D., LL.D.

Great Story on Life; Gripping as a Novel; Fascinating as a Movie

CHAPTER 29

THE stork leaves the baby and flies way home. The baby knows how to live; all it has to do now is to learn to behave. It can learn many things; it will be expected to learn certain things. It is fitted for life; it will be trained to fit into this or that kind of life. It has an inheritance; it will be asked to invest this inheritance in the coin of the realm. Its potentialities are unknown; they will now be tested and given rein to develop or checked by the bit of custom. In short every baby is born at a specific time into a specific community with definite ways of living and set opinions of those who do not live that way, to [illegible] the baby is expected to learn to adjust itself—or as it is sometimes put, to become an ornament!

How does it do it.

How does the stork know its way home? We do not know. We know how to find our way home—and what happens when we arrive home and cannot find the keyhole or when we promise to be home at one and arrive at four. Even a bee knows its way home—and makes for it in a "bee line." Marked terns carried by Watson in a hooded cage on a steamer from their nesting grounds off the coast of Florida to Galveston returned [illegible] in less than a week across the six hundred-mile trackless waters of the Gulf of Mexico.

Uncanny? Only because we cannot describe tern behavior in the familiar term of human psychology. We only know that with this homing instinct birds get home, we do not yet know the nature of the stimulus, whether one or many, or how this stimulus so excites the bird that it makes its "uncanny" response. But this we can say, any bird born with a reaction mechanism that is not responsive to life-or-death excitations will never grow up to be proud of its offspring.

* * *

AN eel travels down the Rhine to the sea, and keeps right on until she reaches the Azores; lays her eggs; dies. Her progeny return to the Rhine. Salmon are as "uncanny": from the sea they enter fresh water rivers and ascend far inland, deposit their eggs, die. They are in such a hurry to make this journey to the grave that they do not stop on the way to eat. Young salmon return to the briny deep to grow up, and find their way back up the very same river to pay their debt to their kind and to their nature.

During evolution, life has encountered endless situations and has learned—sometimes only indifferently well—to meet these situations in endless ways. Some of these ways are still miles beyond us—as Huxley remarked of his crawfish after [illegible] all his life. We see the responses—and too often interpret them in terms of our likes and dislikes, pains and pleasures, work and play.

The Insistence Upon Going Home to Die

We think we know why we travel a thousand miles to die in the old home, and how we find it. But why should a poor fish of a salmon go hungry for weeks, travel a thousand miles, breast endless rapids and climb waterfalls, just to polish off life in the old home? It seems stupid! It is. It has nearly been the death of salmon. Think of all the salmon ever canned—all because they insist on going home to die!

* * *

WE do not know what impels salmon to climb to lakes in mountains, eels to cross seas, birds to migrate half-way round the [illegible] to seal their wives. We do not even know much about impulses. We do know that some things, some situations, and some people, excite us—sometimes more [illegible] good for [illegible] we may [illegible]

But [illegible] the salmon, stork or [illegible] respond to, we may be certain that their response is an answer to a question [illegible] food—shall I eat it or leave it alone? Friend or foe—and if foe, shall I run or fight? And, in higher organisms, does she love me or does she not?

These are the three big things in life.

Plants and animals answer these questions, each according to its kind. One's poison is another's food; one's deadliest enemy is another's lifesaver. Each has its own specific reaction system, range of capacity to act, range of capacity to learn. In short, to each species of animals the world is thus and so; to that world it must respond thus and so; the individuals of the species are born attuned to the world in which they must sink or swim.

The baby our stork left is in the same boat. Only, if we are to understand it, two things must be borne in mind.

Every species of higher organisms, both in plant and animal world, has its own specific life cycle. A certain caterpillar eats and excites the [illegible] a butterfly which lays [illegible] while in the cocoon and dies before [illegible] food. A calf dropped to earth [illegible] up to trot off with its mother. "Infancy" may be a minute, it may be years. "Adult" life may rise at sunset from an image in the water on [illegible] an ephemera [illegible] mate, drop her eggs, and die before sunrise.

The world into which we are born has little relation to the world we were evolved to be born into. It is a [illegible] world, full of [illegible] and innuendoes, dark corners and bright lights, selfishness and greed, stupidity and cruelty, and many charitable organizations. In course of time these experiences will be seen for what they are. Then the years of infancy can be so spent that the adult can make the most of his capacity to mend his environment instead of being so misspent that he must use all his energy to fit into it or escape from it.

We Are Born With Much Valuable Knowledge

Eagles have nests, and coyotes holes, [illegible] its head except [illegible] and she must keep [illegible] grass. The [illegible] about [illegible] have to [illegible] same day. Having [illegible] foot into its legs, it is prepared for the main business of [illegible] off grass between gums of upper and teeth of lower jaw.

* * *

THE baby the stork leaves can neither fight nor run, but in its innate instinctive nature are [illegible] useful modes of response to the two big crises which confront [illegible] infant. The response to hunger is one. Back of this response is a mechanism which works like a [illegible]. Sucking begins when the lips are stimulated, even by an empty rubber nipple. Food in mouth leads to the next step in this reflex chain—swallowing. The reflex chain ends with the stimulus of a full stomach. All this is instinctive behavior. The reflex is the simplest and most persistent mechanism of instinctive acts. The two represent a primitive response in a predetermined direction.

Nor does the newborn have to learn to "throw up" a meal or [illegible] sneeze, [illegible] These [illegible] inheritance.

In short, we are born [illegible] where food and water are to be found or with a motor which would take us there if we knew.

Which means that our viscera know how to live; our motor mechanism does not know how to carry the viscera to the things it must have to live on. And we are infants-in-arms until our motor mechanism learns to perform that service for us. When that mechanism learns to go after food as well as the viscera know how to handle food, we are [illegible] we have some sense. [illegible]

WESTERN GIRL STRENGTHENED

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Manchester, So. Dakota.—"I was [illegible]

[illegible] Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I began taking it and after a short time I felt better. We are a family of five and live on a 360-acre farm, so I have quite a good deal to do both indoors and out. At first I was unable to do anything and had to have a girl, but after taking the Vegetable Compound I finally gained my strength back and also gained considerable in weight."—Mrs. Otto J. Gerre, R. MODERN MEN EXPECT GIRLS TO PET

THE ONE WHO REFUSES HER KISSES STAYS AT HOME

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

"I'M one of the girls who dislike petting, drinking and [illegible] or go to picture shows with Dad and Mother.

"I'm not [illegible] possibly be, when so many men have told me what a flat tire I am. But I know that among a group of girls who dress well, and know how to make the best of their good points [illegible] I can play, too, as I'll cook and take care of a home. Still, I only date about once in two weeks—sometimes not that often.

"I look forward eagerly to marry[illegible] seldom!

"I'm not the only girl who gets sick and tired of putting men in their place and combatting insults. A good many of us are wondering [illegible] lessly about girls who pet and neck. This proved to me they don't think much of petters and neckers.' It seems terrible to hear them say such things about those girls. [illegible]

[illegible] as your mother was at her age? In my opinion this problem is essentially a misunderstanding which [illegible] is more [illegible] closer to [illegible] friendship [illegible] frank [illegible] forward-looking [illegible]

'Jerry'; Heroine Looks Her Best for an Eagerly Awaited Meeting

CHAPTER 41

THE clock on the mantel rang the half hour. Five thirty, thought Jerry. Well, he hadn't guessed she was here this late. Or he'd never have come up the steps [illegible] like that. He'd not have come here at all.

She stood gazing in the mirror in a kind of desolation. Gradually her face lost its familiar aspect and she could survey it as a stranger.

[illegible]

Lifting her on wings of ecstasy; flushing her to the inmost heart with a love of him. Hers then.

Why had this beauty vanished? Why had she not bound him to her irrevocably.

She had wished to. She had felt a scorn for the half-hearted [illegible] things like money and bread; who let the flash and fervor dim before they take their love. Oh, seize to-day—joyously, utterly——

She drew hot, shaking hands over [illegible] she wanted—the dream—the endur[illegible]

Presently she was walking about the room, surveying it with cold, practical eyes. "I'll junk that—hideous thing——"

"That wasn't what I wanted. That's [illegible]

"You choose it," she had said. "I can't be bothered."

What was it—what was it he found in her? There must be some [illegible] charm that made Saxon Rhodes step to her tune.

Thursday in the following week, Jerry stood before the portrait that [illegible] looking, Sylvia. Drab—no sparkle."

"I'm making her as she is—attractively wrapped, but empty—a contradiction that constitutes the sole mystery of many women as May [illegible] points out."

"She seems [illegible] attractive."

"Which makes me doubt that men are [illegible] They fall for [illegible] obvious tactics. The same old lures that have been worked for centuries get them. And they think these lures are new—inspired by their unique charms. If fish were as [illegible] as men, the sea would be [illegible]

[illegible] the salvation of Mary Eunice and the source of her utter stupidity."

"I can't believe it," said Jerry.

"Well, you watch—you'll have a chance to see her in action Saturday night."

"Will she be there?"

"Of course. Saxon is about as [illegible] it. Whom else would he bring, since you've given him the gate?"

Saturday, Jerry suffered a near panic with her excitement. It was John's birthday. Rod Porter was giving this party for him in his [illegible]

Jerry was going with Hugh Hammond.

And she would see Saxon—their first meeting in five [illegible]

She kept recalling the day in August when he rode to the station with her . . . recalling that he said: "Not mad with me now, Jerry. Going away but not mad, are you?"

"No—but you're tired of me—tired [illegible]

[illegible]

"You'll take me, won't you?"

Suddenly a color went splashing to Stephanie's temples. "Do you like Heinie better than H[illegible]"

"No—differently."

"Heinie's rather [illegible] He's terribly in love with you!"

It came out softly in a little [illegible] pressing a finger against her short upper lip: "Why hasn't Saxon been around? Oh, because he's been in Springfield? I wish he'd hurry up and come back. I want to see him . . . see if he's as good as [illegible]

"For anyone, I should [illegible] candy. Doing that for a [illegible] stranger like me. Jerry, is Saxon as good looking as Heinie?"

"Heinie—good looking? What d[illegible]

"Don't you think Heinie hand[illegible]

IN the small family or for special occasions in any family, tarts are more satisfactory than large pies. When there are only two or [illegible] people in a family it often hardly worth while making a pie only to have a few pieces eaten and the rest left over.

The small individual pie is a happy solution in this case. [illegible] a number of shells at a time [illegible] want and fill them from time to time with different fillings. Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. Should a lady ever hold a man's overcoat in public places?

2. Is it the lady's place or the gentleman's to write the order when they are dining at a hotel or cafe in which the writing of the order is the custom?

3. Should the girl suggest the place in which they are to dine, or should the boy suggest it?

4. Is it all right for a girl to go to the theatre with her boy friend without a chaperon?

5. Should a young lady go with her boy friend to his home to meet his people before they are engaged?

A READER OF YOUR COLUMN

NO, a woman does not assist a man by holding his coat, in either public places or in a home. That is, of course, unless he is a very old gentleman who needs assistance or unless he is a cripple, when kindness supercedes. As a matter of fact, a man is embarrassed by such incorrect and gratuitous attention.

2. This would be an attention and courtesy that the man would attend to.

3. The boy since he is the host would suggest the place to which they are to go.

4. If girls of the age to go to the theatre with boys — yes. Chaperons are a rare species nowadays! But, seriously, the answer to such a question depends entirely on circumstances. For instance, if you are in college (as I judge you may be from your succeeding questions), then of course it depends on the college rules, which probably would not permit it, and justly. And of course, if you are at home, it depends on the wishes of your family. Too, it dependes on the customs of the community in which you live. And it depends on the boy with whom you go to the theatre. And sometimes it even depends on the theatre and on the performance you are to see.

5. Yes, if she wishes to, and if he wishes to have her, and if the family invite her. If a boy is fond of a girl, and if he has a fine respect for her, the most natural thing in the world is for him to ask his family to invite her to come with him to meet them. Indeed, a well bred girl will wonder why he doesn't, if they are especially good friends, and if his family live in the same place or near. Such a visit has no special significance, except genuine friendship and sociability.

6. When they become engaged the young man naturally tells his family at once, and his father and mother call on the girl and her family at once. As a matter of fact, this call should be made within twenty-four hours after the news has been told to his family. It is best form for the mother and father to come together to the young lady's home, but, if it is not convenient for his father to come the mother should come and should present the father's welcome too. This is a most important call, and it should be most punctiliously done. It is reasonable that it is important, when one considers that the girl is being welcomed into the family of her fiance.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I had an argument with a friend recently about the correctness of the host carving at the table.

My friend said that it wasn't "being done" any more and was considered just an old custom. I have been in plenty of homes, though, where the host carves the meat, and I must say it looks nice. Please advise me about this.

I ENTHUSIASTICALLY agree with you! It is still in excellent form for the host to carve at table, and I think, with you, that it is a very hospitable and friendly custom. It is true that it is "an old custom," as your friend said, but it is one of those old customs that are still felicitously glorified by tradition and convenience and charm. It is the good old English custom. A friendly host skillfully carving at his own table can give "the festive board" a most heartily cordial feeling of hospitality.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am a member of a dramatic club recently formed. We hired an instructor (for our play which we just presented) for a certain amount, which we paid. It was the consensus of opinion that we send her a card of appreciation or thanks for her effort. Is this proper?

READER.

SUCH a note of gracious appreciation, thanking your coach for her effort and co-operation, would be not only proper but most gracious and friendly. And you and I know how much she will appreciate such a note. There isn't any woman's daughter of us—or any woman's son—who doesn't always enjoy being thanked for co-operation. And dramatic coaching is really more than ordinary work for which one is paid, for it means a great deal of added personal effort. And that is why it would be especially pleasant for you and your dramatic club to write a note of gratitude and appreciation. As a matter of fact, it would be a charming gesture also for your club to enclose this note in a box of flowers or a book to the dramatic instructor.

ANNOUNCEING THE ENGAGEMENT

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Some time ago I read of an announcement party in your column and I would like to follow the same idea in announcing my engagement. The article read that the table was decorated with a basket of roses with ribbon to the place cards. Attached to the other ends of the ribbons were cards announcing the engagement. Would you please tell me how these cards should read and if they are to be printed? Or are they the cards of the engaged couple?

L.

THE cards on the ends of the ribbons may be in the nature of "favor" cards, something especially engraved or printed for the occasion. Or they may be the kind that one can buy at specialty shops. Or they may be heavy, white cards that can be written on.

But, what I would especially recommend, if you can set aside a bit more for a special budgeting for this entertainment, is to buy for each guest a card case of soft white leather or of gilt leather, and in these card cases enclose the visiting cards of the fiancee and the fiance. This is a most effective and dignified way of making this important announcement.

If you do not wish to buy the card cases you may attach the two visiting cards with a tiny white bow.

NO ROOM FOR THE TIMID IN LIFE'S ACTIVITIES

SUCCESS means that you must shove and push and think and act as others against whom you are contesting, and go them one better if you can.

In the activities of life there is no room for the timid.

Regrettable as it is, there is little chance for the courteous one if he gives in too much to those who would push him aside.

The majority think of their own personal comfort and advancement. There is a hard time ahead for the one who is too dignified to shove with the shoving crowd.

In a small town or village there is a certain degree of courtesy which cannot be followed in a big city.

If one waits for a full, open driving chance, one receives reprimand for blocking traffic.

Small town drivers traveling through large cities realize this experience.

So it is in all walks of life.

Keep in line, or someone else will take your place.

SUCCESS AND FAILURE

By LUCY LOWELL

"WHO," wrote George Eliot, "shall put his finger on the work of justice and say, 'It is there'? Justice is like the kingdom of God; it is not without us as a fact; it is within us as a great yearning."

And the same thing applies to home. One who has a feeling of home—that is, a genuine love of home—will establish comfort and sanctuary in a hut, whereas the one who has not this quality will seize upon one excuse and another and eventually will make a mere house, a set of rooms with no atmosphere of home in them, out of a mansion.

Success and failure follow along identical lines, it seems to me. Psychologists declare that the reason why most persons who make failures of their lives do so is because they fear they are going to fall in such a degree as to establish the image of failure in their mind before the thing ever is accomplished in deed. And this seems to be proved by the opposite reasoning which shows persons who have every reason both from within and without to admit themselves failures, but who so tenaciously cling to the thought of success that eventually it is expressed in their externals as well as in their hearts.

MRS. SOLOMON SAYS—

By HELEN ROWLAND

HOW fair art thou, oh my Beloved! How comely, and full of modesty!

Lo, thou art more polished than a dancing master, more tender than a Summer romance, and more COMPANIONATE than an husband.

Behold, thou art my delight, morning and evening, and my solace at all times!

Thou greetest me, at dawn, with a happy "Cheerio!" Thou dost not visit the before breakfast grouch upon me. Thou dost not hog up the bathroom. Thou readest not the newspapers in my presence, nor growlest behind my coffee urn. Thou art always a merry little sunshine within the house!

Thou art not afflicted with MOODS; and dyspepsia is not IN thee. When I would be gay, thou art respondent with jocose wit and merry song. But when I would be silent, thou knowest enough to SHUT UP.

Thou speakest always at the right moment and in a voice of silver. Thou dost not answer me in grunts and monosyllables and swear words. Thou art silent at my command.

Lo, thou art filled with wisdom and with GOOD ADVICE. And whatsoever I wish to learn, that dost thou tell me, [illegible] without moralizing.

Thou art never distrait nor surly at dinner time, but full of sweetness and light and pleasant quips. Thou dost not get "that tired feeling."

Cop Plays St. Patrick to Banana Snake in Reading

This being St. Patrick's Day, the anniversary of the death of the man who drove the snakes out of Ireland, we present herewith a perfectly good snake story.

It happened in a store in Reading sq., Reading, a town not hitherto noted for the dissemination of alarming tales.

Michael O'Donnell, manager of the store, was cutting bananas from a stalk for a customer, when the snake appeared. The reptile was wrapped about the stalk, and appropriately was green in color, with diamond markins.

Three or four customers fled to the street, attracting the attention of Chief of Police Jeremiah Cullihana, who killed the snake with his club. It measured three feet.

RADIO TESTING PLANE OFF FOR WEST COAST

Curtiss Field, N. Y., March 17 (AP)—Experimental radio communication between an airplane in flight and ground stations was the purpose on which a Stinson-Detroiter monoplane with five passengers left here at 1:35 p. m. today for a round trip flight to the Pacific coast. Stops will be made in 46 cities.

It was planned to fly to Washington today, making stops at Bristol, Pa., and Philadelphia.

The plane carried sending and receiving apparatus for both telephone and telegraph communication, with a mechanism designed to overcome the usual interference from the noise of the motors. Beside commercial stations, amateur radio operators have been asked to co-operate. Efforts will also be made to co-operate with broadcasting stations for the interception and rebroadcasting of speech from the plane while in flight.

The call letters of the plane are 2UBK and it is equipped to transmit on 121 meters.

Lynn Gives Codfish the Boot; Wants Shoe on Autos

That an attempt is to be made to laugh out of court the bill filed by Representative Martha N. Brooks of Gloucester making permanent representation of a codfish on Massachusetts auto number plates was indicated today when another bill was filed by Representative Frank W. Osborne of Lynn to substitute a boot or shoe for the cod.

Osborne said he objected to the "ichthyological" insignia because the automobile is identified essentially with modern progress rather than with colonial conditions.

The rest of the committee consisted of: Jean Page, of West Roxbury, in charge of decorations; Olga Davis, waitresses; Josephine Albrecht, of Brookline, food and tables; Margaret Williams, of River Forest, Ill., patronesses; Adele Wood, of Cambridge, invitations; Janet Steinberg, of Dorchester, advertising, Wilma Cannon, of Cambridge, posters, and Eleanor Peterson, of Cambridge, tickets.

Helen Reed

Patronesses were Mrs. J. W. Wood, of Cambridge; Miss Margaret Miller, of Cambridge; Miss Ruth Merrill, assistant dean, and Miss Rosalie Field, of Cambridge.

TWO HURT AS TRUCKS CRASH IN REVERE

Two men were injured today in Revere when two trucks in which they were riding collided at the junction of Page and Fenno sts.

The injured, George E. Molatesta of Highland ave., Somerville, driver of one of the trucks, owned by the New England Bakery Company, and a passenger, Thomas McGlynn of Beacon st., Somerville, were removed to Chelsea Memorial Hospital. Harry Kugest of Washington st., Lynn, driver of the other truck, owned by the North Shore Dye House of Revere, was uninjured.

EMPLOYMENT INCREASES AS COMPARED WITH 1927

Washington, March 17 (AP)—The Labor Department has informed President Coolidge that its most recent information regarding employment for the month of February this year shows a 1¼ per cent increase over the same period last year. Similarly the volume of wages paid during that month was 4 per cent in excess of the corresponding sum paid last year, he was told.

ENTERTAINER

MARTHA LEE'S KITCHEN PARTY MONDAY

By MARTHA LEE

Won't you come to our party—the party we are giving Monday at 2 p. m. to celebrate the opening of the bigger, better and even busier Martha Lee kitchen on the 5th floor of 5 Winthrop sq.

This is the third kitchen we have been obliged to build within the last eighteen months to accommodate the hundreds of progressive New England homemakers who are anxious to take advantage of the lessons in practical cookery offered by Martha Lee.

Do plan now to come to our housewarming next Monday. We know that you will be as delighted as we are with the beautiful model kitchen and large auditorium that has been built for you and the ever increasing army of women who are keenly on the alert to learn of short cuts to better and more efficient housekeeping.

HAS NEW RANGE

You will want to see our wonderful new Glenwood gas range, with its incinerator that burns up all garbage and waste. This truly beautiful range has the two ovens, the automatic cook (regulated oven) and full enamel finish that are standard in all insulated Glenwoods.

Miss Daurice Darling, director of the Home Economics department of the Boston Consolidated Gas Co., will be on hand to tell you more about this insulated Glenwood.

We want to show you our new long wearing Livezey inlaid linoleum, too, and to introduce new friends to our faithful Kelvinator, Hoosier Cabinet and Units, Crane Sink and Kitchen Aid—the electrical food preparer for the home. We would like to show you our smaller electrical appliances, too, our waffle irons, doughnut iron, grills, toasters, irons and percolators and our new, bright colored enamel cooking ware.

TO GIVE MONOLOGUE

But our housewarming is not going to be only an exhibition—it will be a real party with entertainment, instructions and refreshments happily combined. Winifred Petit Scott, who read for us so charmingly at the Hotel Statler luncheon and is a regular feature of our Wednesday morning broadcasts from Station WLOE, will entertain with a one act play, "The Heart of a Clown," a monologue, "Nancy's Cinderella," and "Beau of Bath."

Mrs. Scott, who was graduated from the Leland Powers School in 1925, is well-known in New England for her work on Keith's Circuit, in stock, and readings before women's clubs and church organizations. To miss her part of Monday's party would be to miss something very worth while.

Charles Hyatt, popular radio entertainer, will be on hand with his ukelele and will sing several popular selections. Hyatt, you'll remember, is announced as the "Whispering Ukist."

For the instructive part of our program, Miss Nora W. Bradford, educational field worker for the Post Products Co., Inc., will give a lesson in cake making. Those of you who were fortunate enough to enjoy Miss Bradford's lesson in cold desserts in our Kitchen recently, will not need any urging to be on hand Monday. Most of us long to make light, tender and delicious cakes, and if there is anyone I know who is particularly well fitted to reveal all the secrets of cake making, it is Miss Bradford.

PLENTY TO EAT

But of course we can't expect Miss Bradford to make cakes enough to serve with the ice cream that the Hood Co. has generously offered to provide for our party. But we won't go cakeless, since the Hostess Cake Co. is sending cake enough for one and all. And you know how delicious their cakes are! The Loose Wiles Co. are sending an assortment of their fancy crackers.

H. H. Cubberley of the Chelmsford Gingerale Company is sending a supply of Chelmsford gingerale.

Frank Archer, Sr. vice-president of the Moxie Company is putting the finishing touch to our party with his usual generosity by sending a supply of Moxie souvenirs and Moxie.

Doesn't it all sound intriguing? I have been fairly walking in a dream all week—a dream of the endless, helpful, interesting things that we will be able to accomplish in this new and wonderful kitchen which the Boston Evening American and Sunday Advertiser is presenting to New England homemakers.

Remember—the date is Monday, the time is 2 p. m. (instead of the usual 2:30 hour of our regular lessons) and the place is the New Martha Lee Kitchen fifth floor, at 5 Winthrop sq., which is just a step off Summer st. at Otis or Devonshire st.

Please take this as a personal invitation to you to our housewarming.

Patronesses were Mrs. J. W. Wood, of Cambridge; Miss Margaret Miller, of Cambridge; Miss Ruth Merrill, assistant dean, and Miss Rosalie Field, of Cambridge.

TWO HURT AS TRUCKS CRASH IN REVERE

Two men were injured today in Revere when two trucks in which they were riding collided at the junction of Page and Fenno sts.

The injured, George E. Molatesta of Highland ave., Somerville, driver of one of the trucks, owned by the New England Bakery Company, and a passenger, Thomas McGlynn of Beacon st., Somerville, were removed to Chelsea Memorial Hospital. Harry Kugest of Washington st., Lynn, driver of the other truck, owned by the North Shore Dye House of Revere, was uninjured.

EMPLOYMENT INCREASES AS COMPARED WITH 1927

Washington, March 17 (AP)—The Labor Department has informed President Coolidge that its most recent information regarding employment for the month of February this year shows a 1½ per cent increase over the same period last year. Similarly the volume of wages paid during that month was 4 per cent in excess of the corresponding sum paid last year, he was told.

Reads at Party

ENTERTAINER

MARTHA LEE'S KITCHEN PARTY MONDAY

By MARTHA LEE

Won't you come to our party—the party we are giving Monday at 2 p. m. to celebrate the opening of the bigger, better and even busier Martha Lee kitchen on the 5th floor of 5 Winthrop sq.

This is the third kitchen we have been obliged to build within the last eighteen months to accommodate the hundreds of progressive New England homemakers who are anxious to take advantage of the lessons in practical cookery offered by Martha Lee.

Do plan now to come to our housewarming next Monday. We know that you will be as delighted as we are with the beautiful model kitchen and large auditorium that has been built for you and the ever increasing army of women who are keenly on the alert to learn of short cuts to better and more efficient housekeeping.

HAS NEW RANGE

You will want to see our wonderful new Glenwood gas range, with its incinerator that burns up all garbage and waste. This truly beautiful range has the two ovens, the automatic cook (regulated oven) and full enamel finish that are standard in all insulated Glenwoods.

Miss Daurice Darling, director of the Home Economics department of the Boston Consolidated Gas Co., will be on hand to tell you more about this insulated Glenwood.

We want to show you our new long wearing Livezey inlaid linoleum, too, and to introduce new friends to our faithful Kelvinator, Hoosier Cabinet and Units, Crane Sink and Kitchen Aid—the electrical food preparer for the home. We would like to show you our smaller electrical appliances, too, our waffle irons, doughnut iron, grills, toasters, irons and percolators and our new, bright colored enamel cooking ware.

TO GIVE MONOLOGUE

But our housewarming is not going to be only an exhibition—it will be a real party with entertainment, instructions and refreshments happily combined. Winifred Petit Scott, who read for us so charmingly at the Hotel Statler luncheon and is a regular feature of our Wednesday morning broadcasts from Station WLOE, will entertain with a one act play, "The Heart of a Clown," a monologue, "Nancy's Cinderella," and "Beau of Bath."

Mrs. Scott, who was graduated from the Leland Powers School in 1925, is well-known in New England for her work on Keith's Circuit, in stock, and readings before women's clubs and church organizations. To miss her part of Monday's party would be to miss something very worth while.

Charles Hyatt, popular radio entertainer, will be on hand with his ukelele and will sing several popular selections. Hyatt, you'll remember, is announced as the "Whispering Ukist."

For the instructive part of our program, Miss Nora W. Bradford, educational field worker for the Post Products Co., Inc., will give a lesson in cake making. Those of you who were fortunate enough to enjoy Miss Bradford's lesson in cold desserts in our Kitchen recently, will not need any urging to be on hand Monday. Most of us long to make light, tender and delicious cakes, and if there is anyone I know who is particularly well fitted to reveal all the secrets of cake making, it is Miss Bradford.

PLENTY TO EAT

But of course we can't expect Miss Bradford to make cakes enough to serve with the ice cream that the Hood Co. has generously offered to provide for our party. But we won't go cakeless, since the Hostess Cake Co. is sending cake enough for one and all. And you know how delicious their cakes are! The Loose Wiles Co. are sending an assortment of their fancy crackers.

H. H. Cubberley of the Chelmsford Gingerale Company is sending a supply of Chelmsford gingerale.

Frank Archer, Sr., vice-president of the Moxie Company is putting the finishing touch to our party with his usual generosity by sending a supply of Moxie souvenirs and Moxie.

Doesn't it all sound intriguing? I have been fairly walking in a dream all week—a dream of the endless, helpful, interesting things that we will be able to accomplish in this new and wonderful kitchen which the Boston Evening American and Sunday Advertiser is presenting to New England homemakers.

Remember—the date is Monday, the time is 2 p. m. (instead of the usual 2:30 hour of our regular lessons) and the place is the New Martha Lee Kitchen fifth floor, at 5 Winthrop sq., which is just a step off Summer st. at Otis or Devonshire st.

Please take this as a personal invitation to you to our housewarming.
